DESIGNERS DILEMMA

Horace King, Designer

A designer of glassware, especially tableware, is always directed to "come up with something new and different," "some thing that will appeal to the trade", or "Fost-Imp Glass, Inc. has come out with a new line that sets us back ten years; what can you do about it?" What, indeed? The designer haunts the sample room to avoid repeating an earlier design. He haunts his backlog of drawings to avoid repeating himself; because it is a fact that self-plagiarism is a designer's occupational hazard. He then goes over the competition to avoid producing something so close that he could be charged with piracy. These are the minor dilemmas.

The major dilemma is the fact that tableware is, bound in the discipline strictures of size, shape, contents and function. A 10inch dinner or salad plate is ten inches in diameter, and it's base diameter is limited to a variation of about one half inch. It must be generally circular, a polygon perhaps, or with slightly squared sides, but nothing beyond this. The public has eaten from such shapes for many decades and any radical departure would be impossible.

The typical goblet, from eight to 11 ounces, is a fixed size, and the diameter of the cast or pressed foot must be in the neighborhood of three inches. The rim diameter is three to four inches, and the depth depends upon the profile shaped curve, flare, cup and flare, straight side or shallow cone. Even so, this depth is limited to about one inch in variation.

The stem may vary from a low-footed piece of less than one inch to a long stem of four inches. The long stem was always a problem for the foot caster, especially thin in diameter. Under the necessary heat, the stem would twist slightly because of the turning required for the foot operation. With highly decorated stems this was a minor event but in the case of the 1950 Park Avenue the stem was a disaster. The slim geometric shape was easily distorted beyond the point of recovery, so Park Avenue became mid-century with a short and manageable stem.

If the practical disciplines of size, shape, contents and functions were not enough to subdue the ego of the designer, the behavior of glass at high heat could bring him to his knees. Designs that were beautiful on paper could create havoc in the hot metal room. Zodiac and Crystolite were problems for the pressers because they were reluctant to leave the molds. Waverly's intricate edge treatment and incidental ornament had to call for special molds that earned patents. Perhaps the most stubborn piece to produce was the Flying Horse which, because of mold difficulties and the problem of managing such a quantity of glass for good finishing, reduced production to such a point that this is now a prime collector's item.

After reviewing 150 complete patterns and 170 pieces of stemware, one is amazed that there is so little repetition in design and, add to that, other companies like Heisey were producing a like variety without repeating themselves or Heisey. This is a phenomenon that relieves the designer's dilemma, but nevertheless,

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

MIKE MAXWELL

September is upon us and so it brings a slow end to our summer. I don't know about where you live, but I know we do not need any more rain for awhile. It has rained so much lately my feet are starting to web. It really has been a fast summer, but I'm ready to settle down and start getting caught up on some things.

Your new Board of Directors met for the first time on August 2. Many topics were hit upon, and I will give you a brief run down:

- The committee chairs were all decided on for the upcoming year. Several of them remained the same as last year, but we did get some new participants. It is always good to see some new blood get involved.
- We reintroduced the idea of offering a lifetime membership in HCA. An additional idea for a junior membership was also introduced in hopes of attracting younger members to HCA. Both items were thought to be viable ideas and were passed on to the committee to research them further. I will bring you more information on this as I get it.
- Dave Spahr will once again be chairing the benefit auction next year. This was a very successful event this year and we are hoping for the same thing again.
- The Board has been approached by several members asking questions about estate planning involving HCA. The proper ways of going about this will be researched, and we hope to be able to satisfy your questions very soon.
- Once again, the need for additional volunteers is always a topic of discussion. We have many very good volunteers now, but we can always use more. If you can just spare a few hours of your time, it would be appreciated.
- Walter Ludwig has offered to author a reference booklet on the "Twist" pattern. This should prove to be very valuable to anyone interested in this pattern.

- I hope that everyone who attended the convention had an opportunity to see the beautiful Ohio Bicentennial Plaque highlighting A. H. Heisey, our club and the Museum. It will be dedicated on December 13 in conjunction with Christmas in the park and our open house. We hope you can attend this dedication.
- I have received questions about the voting membership. Some would like to see the one time charge of $25 dropped in hopes of gaining a larger voting base. The consensus of the Board is that not everyone who joins a club wants to have an active role in it. By paying the fee, you are showing your interest in having an active role in HCA. No further action will be taken at this time.
- The Board has received many comments about absentee voting. We will continue to look into ways of improving the way this is handled in the future. I will report more on this as I can.

The Board has received quite a lot of feedback on this year's convention. We received many accolades as well as some negative feedback. Your voices have all been heard, and HCA is striving to provide a convention for next year that is even better. HCA does still need your help for Convention 2004. We need an individual who would be willing to chair the convention. We have a very strong base of people who can assist you in the planning stages as well as during convention week. Jay Martin did a fine job this year and proved that it can be done from a remote location. If you are interested in chairing this event, please contact any board member or Bill Douglas at the Museum.

The National Capital Heisey Collectors Club and HCA have been once again hit with the loss of another member. Jack Swetnam passed away on July 24. He was an early member of the National Capital Club. Jack was an avid collector of Heisey, Rookwood and Duncan.

I have also learned that the Northwest Heisey Collectors lost one of its charter members, Oliver Beatty, who passed away at the ripe age of 87. Oliver had been attending meetings until the last couple of months. He is survived by his wife, Mary, also a charter member of the NWHC. Oliver will be greatly missed for his stories and enthusiasm for Heisey glassware.

They say bad news comes in threes. June Lukasko of Newark passed away in August. June, her husband Ray, and son Jim were dealers at the show for a number of years.

HCA extends its condolences to all of these family members and friends, and shares in their losses.

Happy Heisey Hunting,
Mike

FROM THE CLUB/MUSEUM DIRECTOR Bill Douglas

Hard to believe summer is almost over, where did it go?

Volunteers Make the Difference:

I'm happy to say we have had a good response asking for typing volunteers! Kay Kohler, Muffy Moorhead, Linda Maddox, and Linda Bischoff have all agreed to help type articles for the Newsletter.

David DeVito has volunteered to help Dick Ritter with proofing and editing articles for the Newsletter. Some of David's work is in this issue.

As you know, HCA has had items on display at the Works in their glass studio. The Works is rearranging their studio to make more room for classes. Some of HCA's items are still on display in the Studio and another area has been created for HCA and the Museum to have a presence. Not all of the items were needed at the Works. On August 7 a group consisting of Dick Marsh, Jack Metcalf, Michael Maher along with two workers and a truck from Appletree began inventorying and boxing the surplus items and displays.

Cases and items were returned to the Museum and placed in the Multipurpose Room. The Staff has unpacked the supplies and placed them back in the appropriate cases. Several large photographs showing scenes in the plant were also returned and are to be hung in the Multipurpose Room. This gives us five new displays for people see. They show the tools used to make the molds, several of the molds and pieces that came from the molds.

These displays will be a great attraction for all of our visitors, but especially the school groups

DESIGNERS DILEMA

the practical disciplines enforce a kind of creativeness that is limited to detail rather than a grand scheme of design. The popular notion of the designer as a person who fashions things of great beauty after a flash of noble inspiration simply is not true.

He may turn out an attractive and exotic drawing, but the mold-maker will shake his head and say, "it won't pull." Thus, the design dies because the practical necessities of production must be the first consideration. This is no idle threat to the designer and his "inspiration" because economy is the most vital concern to the glass home. Although Heisey was justly proud of its fine hand-wrought crystal "the finest in glassware, made in America by hand," the company judged its success in the market place, and by profits assured by economy in production.

The designer's dilemma, therefore, was not just the general stifling of his creative impulse. It was the result of a series of disciplines generated by tradition and the economy of mass production. This is not for the tender-hued artist who would rather die than sacrifice one mite of his precious creative product. The designer in the glass house must develop a thick skin because anyone around might glance at his drawing and say, grandly, "it's no good; I don't like it". This is the kiss of death at once because the sales manager is sensitive to such a comment. "Anyone a round" may have little or no artistic judgment but then is the arbiter of taste and represents the public. The designer has to accept such a judgment and the sales manager's decision because he must earn his money and that of the company by producing something that anyone around" will buy.

A view of all these obstacles in the path of the creative designer, how does he proceed? Given a service plate as a starter, he begins with envy in his heart of the designer who produced the Revere plate, a simple circle in form. What can he do to this austere object to satisfy the sales manager's demand for "something new and different?" In some despair, he reviews the 150 odd plates of previous lines, and then begins the seemingly endless task of doodling rough sketches of all the possibilities left. The designer tinkers with the optics of various kinds, deep and shallow. He works on a number of surface textures. He may try a spot ornament in relief, or variations of edge ornament. He may find that certain textures will create their own decorative edges.

There is always the possibility that the designer can work with a new shape and still stay within the bounds of tradition. Such was the case of Cabochon that combined the circle and the square, and did result in a line that was "new and different."

These are questions most often asked: "Mr. King, did you design such and such," or, "are you the original designer?" The reply must always be carefully qualified because "design" has the broadest meaning of any term in the vocabulary of Art. It means all things to all men, and the degree "originally" is often difficult to determine. It is obvious that a direct and unaltered copy of an existing piece is no more than a copy, and it has no value in itself. It is called plagiarism or piracy, if the copyist profits from its use. An old professor, weary of reading the plagiarism of his students, said, "It is no more than transporting information from one place to another."

Leonardo Da Vinci, painter of the famous "Last Supper," was without a doubt the most original designer ever known. His clocks, mechanical devices, machines and airplanes were pure inventions undreamed of before his time. It has been said that had he invented the gasoline engine along with his airplane, he would have killed himself in his early years learning how to fly!

Most of today's designers extend, adapt and modify previous concepts to fit present demands. Very few of today's designs are "out-of-hand" creations of a single man Leonardo. Rather they are a result of continuum of additions and refinements of previous designs. This will be the topic of the later column, which will center on a challenge Clarence Heisey or Rodney Irwin with a handout of some odd piece and the question, "What can you do to this to make it more attractive to the trade?" The result will be in the hands of anyone around in the lap of the gods, whoever they are! ♥

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE STUDY CLUB MEETING

Jenny Pryor, Membership Clerk

On Thursday afternoon during convention, President Michael Maxwell, facilitated a meeting with several study club representatives. Although the attendance was few in number, the discussion and ideas were many. The following are some of the topics we discussed:

- A suggestion was made to review our constitution and bylaws
- A volunteer project of creating an up-to-date price list from past auctions
- A call to members for new fund-raising projects
- Members could ask the surrounding schools about mascots for reunions (such as panther or plug horse) for a fundraising project
- Study clubs could include any ideas they have in their monthly article
- Tapes and slide shows are available for outside club use from the museum
- Many were curious how many members HCA actually has and how many voters
- People wanted to hear candidates speak at the "meet the board" activity during convention, and they wished there was a way to get to know the candidates better before the annual meeting and dinner.
- How to attract a younger crowd. The suggestion was to attract them with great finds (yard sales, dusty bodegas, etc.) because if one thing is for sure, kids are always interested in money, but not always history. ♥

SEVENTEEN DEALERS, WHERE ARE YOU?

Frank Husted

I had great support from our President and our Director in response to a strident letter I wrote following the June Glass Show in Newark. The result was to encourage me to inquire of dealers and others as to their experiences at the June show. On or about July 7, 2003, I mailed more than 40 two-page questionnaires to dealers, HCA/BOD members, and significant others. I enclosed a SASE in each one. As of August 2, 2003, I have received only 14 responses. Follow-up email, telephone and ground mail reminders have not been all that successful.

Am I to infer that those who have not replied don't give a hoot? [Even one who holds a very high office on the BOD?] I cannot legitimately draw that conclusion or can I? In the final analysis, which has greater weight, 12 negative and two positive reactions to a question, or 40 negative and four positive reactions to a question?

During my 30+ years as an HCA member, twenty-three of them as a dealer at Granville and/or at the HCA show, I have heard just about every known complaint over and over again. Little has been done to solicit reactions from the complainers, but on the basis of a few, some good changes were made and some "not so good" changes were instituted. Forty+ surveys were not enough ... but 14 replies, while EXTREMELY valuable, desperately need company!! PLEASE CARE ENOUGH TO GET YOUR RESPONSES TO ME NOW! September 20, 2003 is the response deadline! ♥

SPECIAL PROJECTS UPDATE

Dick Smith, Special Projects

This committee has worked to come up with projects to help generate money for the museum. To date this year we have produced the Cobalt Madonna (which has done very well), the Heisey Triangle Sign and the Ruby Tigers for Newark High School.

There are two new projects that are being sold wholesale to customers. They are:

1. The Ruby Standing Colt. Marked HCA/M/03 and the Longaberger leaf. This is a wholesale project sold only to the Longaberger Company. These will be offered August 30 and 31 at the Homestead during their Heritage Days Celebration. This event offers the colt ($55), a special basket, HGTV collector inspector Harry Rinker, crafts, and fine entertainment by "Lee Greenwood." There is a $25 entrance fee. For more information call (740) 322-5588 or E-mail at www.Longaberger.com
2. The Military Cap will be made in light blue for the Newark Veterans Memorial Association and be made by Mosser and marked HCA/M/03. This cap is a fund-raiser for the Veterans Memorial Meet and the interviewing of our veterans by Newark Catholic High School students in association with the Library of Congress. The cost for the cap is $14.95 plus tax and shipping. For information please call (740) 405-2956 or write the Veterans Memorial Association at 137 Fern Street, Newark, Ohio 43055 or E-mail msgmac@prodigy.net or visit their website <http://ohioveterans.tripod.com/>

Supporting these projects helps support the HCA.

NEITHER ONE OF THESE PROJECTS ARE AVAILABLE AT THE MUSEUM. YOU MUST CONTACT THE LONGABERGER COMPANY AND THE VETERANS ASSOCIATION DIRECTLY.

There is a possibility of a Lavender Ice piece in the future. Please contact us on items you might like to see HCA make. We are open to suggestions.

If you have an organization that might be interested in a project, please contact me a (740) 366-5163 or E-mail me at prestonmom@adelphia.net for more information. ♥

A RECENT HEISEY SIGHTING

Palmer Haffner

From time to time, you may notice Heisey glassware displayed in surprising ways unrelated to glass or the company. It might be in a book, magazine advertisement, other advertising media, or even in a movie. Like most collectors, my wife, Pam and I are not limited to collecting only Heisey. What is it that they say, "You need to focus your collecting?" We have focused—on everything! Pam and I have come to enjoy the same hunt and appreciation for Shelley China. Shelley China was made in Longton, Staffordshire, England from 1860 to 1966. We share this focus with at least six other National Heisey Collectors of America (NHC) members who are also members of the National Shelley China Club.

When Pam and I started collecting Heisey, our interest was based on its beauty and function. As time went on, it evolved to become a quest to understand more about the glass and the history of the company. We purchased books on Heisey glass to enhance our study, and continue to refer to the books to help us become better-informed collectors. Pam and I have found books useful in our Shelley education as well.

Recently, we purchased a book entitled "More Shelley China" by Lee Jones and Russ Nicolas, published by Schiffer Publishing Ltd. To our delight, we saw that Jones and Nicolas married the quality and beauty of Heisey glassware with Shelley China in a picture on the back cover of the current edition. In a table setting, they have placed Heisey Cobalt "Spanish" stems with "Dainty Blue" by Shelley China! What more can you ask for?...a refreshing drink from Heisey stemware and dinner on Shelley China. Thank you Lee and Russ for this quality statement.

Some fellow Heisey members may recognize the authors as they were active dealers of Heisey at past NHC conventions and are members of the Golden Gate Heisey Collectors Club. As owners of R&L Antiques in Petaluma, CA, Lee and Russ continue to sell Heisey, other depression glassware and some Shelley China. They have a wonderful collection and have been nice enough to share their collection and knowledge in two books on the subject. Pam and I have spent hours studying these books. The next time you are in a bookstore, look up these authors and enjoy sightings of Heisey while learning a little about Shelley China.

Pam and I were in the San Francisco area approximately 18 months ago. While on an antiquing hunt, we had the opportunity to meet Lee and Russ and to make purchases. Additionally, they shared their hospitality by showing us their Shelley collection. If you should be in the Petaluma area, stop in and see Lee and Russ. I am sure you will find their shop is worth the trip with many Heisey and other depression glass treasures.

Now your challenge is to report your Heisey sighting in future newsletters. Happy hunting and reporting!

HEISEY IN THE WORLD OF MAKE BELIEVE

Carl Sparacio

There's a newspaper photo accompanying this article. It's of a serendipitous Heisey sighting that recently appeared in the New York Sunday Times. Given the nationwide distribution of the N. Y. Times and especially the Sunday Times, I was sure I would be inundated with calls, letters and/or e-mails regarding this picture. Wow, was I ever wrong. I was the only one who reported it to me.

I'd like to believe, too, that many of you remember the TV show the picture was taken from, but because it was on television from 1949 to 1956, it's likely very few of you remember it. Unfortunately, I remember it – I was just a kid – a newly married kid but a kid none-the-less. The show was called "The Goldbergs." It was a family show and the leading character was named Molly Goldberg who, as you might expect, was a stereotypical Jewish mother.

The plot revolved around Molly and her family and I thought it was very funny at the time, though the N.Y. Times reporter who prepared the recent article didn't think so - probably because she only just viewed a seven show retrospective at the Jewish Museum in Manhattan. This is a show that worked best in its original era – in other words, "You had to be there." "The Goldbergs" were for the Jews of its time what "The Cosby Show" was for African-Americans in the 1980's.

The Heisey piece illustrated in our picture from the wonderful "The Goldbergs" show is the magnificent No. 49 Three-Tiered Epergne. It's almost a yard tall and Molly is shown with a humongous loaf of bread standing behind the food-laden epergne. A real Heisey gem. I always assumed that the largest of the Heisey epergnes were drug store or restaurant items. I wouldn't have expected any to be found in homes such as Molly's, no matter that we had one in our house on the dining room sideboard for years. But I have an excuse, unlike Molly, I'm a collector. Ours overpowered our small dining room, but you can get away with a lot in the name of collecting.

It's not unusual to find Heisey in the TV shows of the forties and fifties – Heisey was still being made then. What is surprising, is to spot it in a new show. We were watching "Without A Trace," a show about missing persons the other night, and lo and behold, I spotted a single No 301 three light Colonial candelabra on a low base. It stood against a wall on a sideboard in a very elegant living room. It made my night and made up for the string of reruns I had been watching.

I wasn't the only one who reported a sighting to me this month. I had a call from a "Heisey-nut" who had a wonderful sighting. OK, so it wasn't a sighting – it was a find. He spotted four Heisey Pony Stems - at an antiques show no less. You can bet he bought them. He said they were very affordable. If I found even one Heisey Pony Stem, you can bet your bippy that it would be way out of my price range.

It's not always fun to get word of a "sighting" like the Pony Stems - more often than not it stirs up shameful envy in me. ♥

WHAT WOULD YOU DO FOR A KLONDIKE BAR?

Georgia G. Otten

The Director of the Heisey Museum has been asking for stories about our personal lives! I believe it is going to be most interesting when everyone responds! After all, we all have stories about our passion, our passion for Heisey glass. And Heisey glass is the 'Klondike bar' in this case.

My husband is a collector of Heisey Plantation. He is a collector of Heisey glass. We are both collectors! And what this can translate to is going to great lengths and at times enduring personal discomfort in the hopes of finding a treasure.

Ever gone to a wide-open space such as a fairgrounds in the middle of summer? Get up early, drive for an hour or more, wait in lines of traffic as you near the grounds, get directed to the farthest possible point to park the car, get out and begin that walk. Have to hurry.....don't want to miss out. The sun is getting hotter and hotter and while I am looking for glass, I find myself also looking for a vendor selling hats! I forgot mine! Keep going.....the sun is glaring, the pavement hot, and still no Heisey and no hat to be found. But all of a sudden there, shining in that hot sun, on a card table filled with lunch boxes and comic books is a piece of Heisey glass! Yes! Makes the sunburn on the backs of my legs almost bearable. Purchase made! That was worth it! Now if I will only be able to keep up this pace for several hours; then it will be time to find the car, which has also been baking in the sun!

The hunt...that is what makes everything so much fun! Fun? I have learned the hard way, to be prepared if going to an outside sale! I have left Dayton, Ohio where the temperature is a balmy 72 degrees and am headed to Michigan! I am dressed for balmy! Michigan is 40 degrees when I arrive. My comfy sandals are just not going to be effective! And a rainy, cold wind is blowing. Do I have a hat? No, (don't need one for balmy) but I can make do with a green trash bag hastily fashioned into a chapeau of sorts. I am a collector, not a fashion plate! And it did keep the wind out of my ears and rain off my head! Again, the Heisey glass found on that trip was worth it! It pays to have friends well seasoned in the art of flea marketing in various locales and from whom I learned to pack socks, boots, a sweatshirt, a hat and gloves! I am now ready for Michigan or Cleveland. Plus a tip I also learned about North Carolina.....red clay is hard to remove from shoes, socks and clothing!

The joys of hunting Heisey glass has taught me that lunch might not be until 3:30 or maybe not until dinner! Must take snacks with me! In fact, making a meatloaf and taking bread for sandwiches is a great idea! Time is of the essence. A serious hunter and gatherer cannot take time to stop and dine. Shops are only open for so many hours each day. Be thorough, but be quick. Need to travel to the next location. Yep, this is a fifteen minute mall....get going! But the Heisey glass found on these whirlwind, mad-dash-about-shopping trips makes it all worth while!

Attend garage sales or estate sales? Being first in can make a big difference. How to gauge the time to guarantee being first in? Ah-h-h, since there are no guarantees in life, perhaps one must decide to sacrifice sleep to get up early and drive to the location and park and wait. Sale opens at 9:00 A.M.! Being there at six should be plenty of time. Maybe. That would depend on advertised items! And remember, there might not be 'facilities' available while waiting for a sale to open! But the thrill of possibly getting THE item at this sale keeps a person right there waiting. Heisey glass is worth waiting for, even if one needs to try to sleep in the car for a few hours!

Walking around in scorching heat, fighting the unexpected cold and wind, doing without regularly scheduled meals and sacrificing sleep...just exactly what WOULD you do for a Klondike bar? I mean Heisey glass.....♥

SIGNED WITH A DIAMOND H FOUR TIMES

Joseph D. Lokay

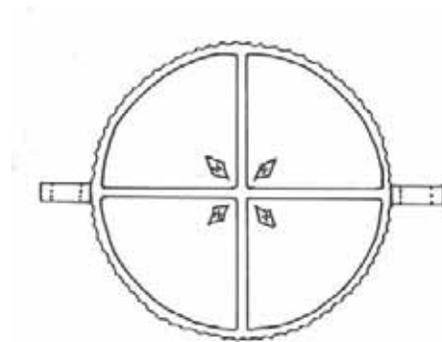

There are many, many pieces of Heisey glassware marked with the Diamond H. Quite a few pieces are marked with two Diamond H's. Are you aware that there are several pieces of Heisey marked four times; yes, four Diamond H's.

One such piece is the four compartment spice tray in the #473 "Narrow Flute with Rim" pattern. The tray is 8" in diameter and about 1 ¼" high. There are glass partition walls in the shape of a "plus sign" on the inside to form the four compartments. The bottom of the tray contains a large 54 point typical Heisey star and is ground and polished. When there is a star on the bottom, Heisey pieces of this type and vintage are usually marked at the center on the inside surface of the bottom. However, because the glass partition walls on the inside cross at the center, the Diamond H mark could not be placed at the center. Moving off center places the mark in one of the four compartments, someone decided to place a Diamond H mark in each of the four compartments rather than just one. The sketch of the tray with this article shows the location of the four marks.

The # 473 Narrow Flute with Rim pattern was produced from about 1915 to 1928. I checked three Heisey catalogs; catalog 76 – circa 1915, catalog 102 – circa 1923 and catalog 109 – circa 1928. While many pieces of # 473 were shown, none of the three pictured the 4 compartment tray. Most likely, the piece was only made for a short period and thus missed the catalog printings.

There is a similar four compartment spice tray in the # 1183 "Revere" pattern shown in Vogel II, page 108. This tray might contain four marks. I haven't seen one so I'm not sure what it has. The # 1540 "Lariat" pattern has an 8" diameter 4-compartment tray. The one Lariat tray I saw had no marks. There are four compartment bowls in the # 1181 and # 1186 patterns which, in theory, could also have 4 marks. The 6" diameter, 2 handled, 4 compartment preserve dish I saw in the # 1186 "Yeoman" was signed only twice in two diagonally opposite compartments. I have not seen the larger size bowl in # 1186 or any of the bowls in # 1181. Has anyone seen some other Heisey pieces with four marks on them?

PERCY MOORE DINNER IN DAYTON, OCTOBER 4

Bob Ryan

The annual Percy Moore dinner that travels all over the country has landed in Dayton this year amongst all the celebrations of the 100th year of Flight. A great year to visit Dayton, and we are hosting this event with Carillon Historical Park to give all of you Heisey aficionados an excuse to come our way. Friday night the Dayton Club will host a wine and cheese party that is included in your dinner fee. Also included is admission to the Carillon Historical Park where you can see the Wright B Flyer and many other Wright Brothers artifacts plus their print shop and a replica bicycle shop. There are many other attractions at a truly outstanding park. Friday night you will also have the opportunity to bid on some outstanding Heisey items from the Dayton Club collections put up for a silent auction during the wine and cheese party. More on this later.

Friday and Saturday guests staying at the Wellesly Inn will have an old fashion swap and sell meet like the first Heisey conventions. These were great fun. If you were not one of the lucky people to have participated in these outings, you are in for a treat, but you gotta come to Dayton. All I ask is that you display a little courtesy when racing thru the halls. Do not try to go three abreast thru the doorways, push the lady aside and pick her up on your way out. Be a gentleman please.

Make a reservation now as there are only so many rooms available. I got my room and my home is only four miles away. You think I am going to be a gracious host and miss out on some really great opportunities to add to my collection, c'mon, get real. I expect to use my cane to clear a few doorways, so be ware. All is fair in Heisey-hunting. I just discovered the other uses of the cane when an elderly lady cleared me from in front of the dairy case at Kroger's last Saturday. Learning is an ongoing thing.

I should not do this because you people can not handle these things well, but I was asked to give some hints as to what was going to be in the silent auction. So hold tight, here goes. You gotta understand that some of our Dayton members are slower than molasses in January and still have not made up their minds what to offer but those movers and shakers have come forward and here goes. I will list opening bids behind the items and these will serve as reserves, also. To bid you will have to be there or make your own personal arrangements with a member of the Dayton Club.

- #1. a #5063 Bantam Rooster cocktail $150.00
- #2. #300-2 16" 2 lite candelabra with a floral and line cutting on the base $120.00

- #12. #1184 Yeoman 2 oz Sahara cruet with stopper $80.00
- #13. #1489 bitters bottle with enameled fly decor $35.00
- #14. #341 Handled jelly with a Tuthill gravic cutting of vintage grapes and leaves, an extraordinary piece new to the retail market in a private collection for over thirty years.

- #15. # 429 Plain Panel recessed gallon pitcher and four #429 tumblers all with the Tuthill gravic cutting of vintage grapes and leaves. A magnificent set the centerpiece of any collection. There is some wear on sides of the pitcher $700.00

There will be fifteen more items to be added as soon as it warms up so the molasses starts to run and these slowpokes get moving.

So folks, we hope you will join us for an outstanding weekend in Dayton. In a surrounding area of about a half hour drive there are more antique malls and shops that it would take you at least three days to make them all plus the Air Force Museum a must see- especially this year. For the Carillon Park your pass is good for four days here, Thursday thru Sunday. Come help us celebrate! ♥

HEISEY SIGNS AVAILABLE FOR THE FIRST TIME

This is the first time HCA has produced this Sign. To our knowledge, the A.H. Heisey & Company never put this Sign into production. When this piece was sampled, the mold was inoperable. The mold was re-worked and vents were added in order to produce this piece. The Sign is produced in crystal. The Sign is in a triangular shape that is 4.5-inches wide, 1-inch tall and 1.75-inches deep. This will make a perfect label Sign for your Heisey display either at home, in your store or at a show. All Signs are marked, "HCA/2003/M." Remember, these are all hand-made and no two are exactly alike. This Sign is now available through the Gift Shop. This Sale is open to all!

CLUB NOTES

Northwest Heisey Collectors
Deborah DeJong

JULY MEETING MINUTES:

Fifteen members had hamburgers and hotdogs at the home of Karl & Deborah de Jong. It was a beautiful day and dining al fresco seemed to be the thing to do. As always, the house was open for exploration and some members saw things they hadn't seen before. The food was abundant and delicious. We can't seem to get away from the skill of our members in the kitchen. Karl did the grilling and the ladies helped Deborah in the kitchen setting out the bounty.

Old Business:

Audit Committee: Pat Coleman, Mary Beatty, and Sally Thomas went over the books and pronounced them A-OK.

Display Committee: Karl de Jong, Maureen Coleman, and Don Wehmeyer met and hammered out the details of our upcoming Star Mall display. They will have a list in the next newsletter of Heisey they would like brought to the mall at setup time. The display will be showing three-time periods in the Heisey history. President Glenna sat in on both committee meetings and watched the progress.

Raffle: Isa Nelson was the winner this month. She opened the goodie bag to find a #1503 Crystolite 3 part relish. Should look great with pickles and olives when she gets in her new house.

Show & Tell: Deborah had a display of epernettes and epergnions used in Heisey candleholders. The flower arrangements attempted to duplicate the pictures shown in Heisey catalogs and flyers. The #1519 Waverly and #341 Old Williamsburg styles were shown on #1567 Plantation, #1519 Waverly, #1566 Banded Crystolite candleholders. There weren't many show and tells, but the ones there were beautiful. The list is: #1205 Fancy Loop 8" vase #1; Emerald tumbler #1205 Rain Drop candleholders in Moongleam (notice the duplication of pattern #'s) #3404 Spanish cocktail with Sahara bowl.

Meeting Adjourned:

The Audit and Display Committees accomplished a great deal with their before meeting meetings. The weather was perfect, the people friendly and the Heisey superb. We can't ask for much more. Thanks to all who attended. ♥

May & July 2003 MEETINGS

Since I was not able to make our May meeting, I am unable to report all the details. However, Linda mentioned a few things to Rodger the other day on the phone. First, they had a GREAT time!

The June meeting was held at the Maddoxes with fourteen present, including three visitors, which was a good turnout for a summer meeting! Marion showed the Heisey Toothpick slides, plus identified toothpicks that the members brought!

Nice SURPRISE! Linda and Marion gave each attendee a copy of the Heisey Toothpick book! Sooooo, watch out. I bet there will be some new "Heisey Toothpick" Collectors?!?!

The July meeting was held at the home of Wanda and John Minton!! If anyone would say a year from now, "What do you remember about the Mintons' meeting? I am sure the first thing one would say is "That delicious coconut cake that Wanda baked and served on a beautiful Heisey Plantation footed cake plate!"

Thirteen HCT'ers attended this meeting to hear from each conventioneer about their favorite day or very interesting times at Newark in June! By the time the meeting was over, we asked how many are going next year - you guessed it - TEXAS IS COMING TO CONVENTION IN 2004! We had seven which attended this year, but next year I think we may double that number!

Our Show & Tell was fantastic. I will mention a few. The list is way too long to mention all the Show & Tell at this meeting! Grape cluster oval floral bowl with beautiful - extra grape and ivy cutting. Another HCT'er showed up with a 9" Bonnet Basket with heavy cutting of grape and ivy cutting, little different than the floral bowl. Cordials - one of my favorite categories - Monte Cristo, El Rancho, a Shasta Cordial with cutting, Heisey Rose etch, Park Avenue, Symphone with Minuet etch to mention a few! Fancy Loop Moongleam Tumbler, Charter Oak Parfait, Alexandrite Creole 4oz. cocktail, and Old Queen Ann punch cup. Oh yes, one of our couples went to convention, came home with only having to have seven more toothpicks, to have one of each pattern Heisey made! Yes, they did bring one of their favorites, which was the hard-to-find Urn Toothpick.

So you Texans can plan ahead, here is the schedule for the next few meetings around Texas! HCT meets on the second Saturday at 1pm. Come join us! The meetings will be at Candy and Greg Freeman in September; Charlie Baird in November; Erma & Rodger Hulslander in January; Marjorie Stormer in March; and Sally Lancaster in May.

Hope y'all are having a wonderful summer! ♥

Rare Heisey All Tangerine Collection being sold as one lot with a value over $10,000.00. Lot consists of the pieces listed below and will not be broken for individual sale:

The history of this glass is that it originated from a Heisey glass factory worker, named James Blaisdell. He was either given these pieces or purchased them from the factory where he helped to create them in the Heisey glass factory. From him in Newark, Ohio, they went to his grand daughter. She moved to LaGrange and I am proud to be the last of only 3 owners of these fine pieces. My friend gave these pieces to me in 1974 when I was rather young. As far as I know, these dishes had not been used by them, and they were never used by me. They are in perfect condition. I thought they were too beautiful to use when I inherited them and didn't even realize their value until around the 1990's

FRANKLY RHYMING FRANK HUSTED

As part of a fundraising effort, Dr. Husted has agreed to create limericks, like the one below, for HCA members based on the pattern(s) of their choice. A donation to HCA is requested for each limerick created. If you would like to learn more about this fundraising event, you may contact Dr. Husted by phone at (610) 469-1243 or via e-mail at fhusted@comcast.net

WAVERLY

This WAVERLY pattern is gentle
 Like the sea, it is so sentimental
 Though it may seem quite manic
 't was once called "Oceanic"
 Was WAVERLY experimental?

ARE YOU HAVING PROBLEMS RECEIVING YOUR NEWSLETTER?

Every month we get calls from members who do not receive their Newsletter. Several things may account for this.

We get nearly a dozen Newsletters returned to us because we have a bad address. We have to pay 70 cents to have these returned with the corrected address from the Post Office. When then have to send out a second Newsletter and pay first class postage.

HCA pays what is called a "Periodical Postage" rate. According to our Representative at the Post Office "...items sent periodical postage should be delivered after first class, and BEFORE other normal bulk mail." He agrees, not all carriers understand or comply with this procedure.

If you do not receive your Newsletter, contact your local Post Master and bring it to their attention and ask they make sure their carriers understand this and comply with it.

If you are moving, make sure you let HCA know. You can send an E-mail to: membership@heiseymuseum.org, call us at 740.345.2932, ext. 1, or drop us a note at HCA 169 West Church St. Newark, OH 43055
