Editors' Note

Changes abound at HCA headquarters. The Heisey News will now be edited jointly by Curator Karen D. Kneisley and Assistant Editor Kelly Thran. Look for changes (and a few surprises) in upcoming issues. We apologize in advance for the tardiness of this issue. Between personnel changes, the convention schedule and record-breaking sales in the Museum Shop we've had our hands full. No excuses for August!

CONVENTION 93

As I write this it is Sunday night at the close of convention. I think this was one of the most exciting and interesting conventions ever. I cannot say enough to thank everyone from the convention co-chairmen and all their committees to everyone who has made the museum complex a reality. Everyone has worked so hard it is difficult to believe that any of us can still stand.

It is hard to say what was the highlight of the convention. The Dalzell trip seemed to excite all who attended, the museum and courtyard were spectacular and the banquet speakers, Ken Dalzell and Eva Zeisel, were truly outstanding.

I would have to say that the relationship we have developed with Ken Dalzell and his company are what I believe it might have been like to work with the Heisey family 40-50 years ago. Ken is a gentleman who is always accessible and goes out of his way to help. His goals for the Dalzell company should create a lasting relationship with HCA.

Sam Schnaidt introduces Eva Zeisel at the convention Banquet.

Spending time with Eva Zeisel was the highlight of the convention for both Heidi and me. She is a most remarkable woman and all the time we got to spend with her and her daughter Jean was enlightening. At the age of 86 she is still actively working in her New York studio and still traveling all over the United States and Europe. Mrs. Zeisel is still interested in everything around her.

The show and display were beautiful and I only regret I did not have more time to spend in both of these, and I needed more time to visit. Maybe next year will be less hectic. If you were unable to make this year's convention I hope many of you will be able to get to the museum soon. Again, thanks to everyone who helped in any way.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

I would like to thank all of the directors who have taken the time and energy to come from various parts of the country to attend and contribute to HCA with their abilities and expertise. It is often a thankless job to serve on the board and on the executive board. Decisions are often criticized by a few but I believe that this past year's board, as other boards, has always tried to serve HCA to the utmost. Discussions may become lively and sometimes even heated but the decision that is made is that which the majority feel best serves the objectives and constitution of HCA. Also, most importantly, all walk out friends and respect the others' points of view.

I doubt that there has ever been an Executive Committee that has put in the time that Amy Jo, Dick, Larry and Norm have been asked to put in this past year. I look forward to working with the same men but will very much miss all the work that Amy Jo did. I am sure that Tom Bischoff will do an excellent job as secretary.

I would like to thank the membership and the board for their vote of confidence and I look forward to serving this coming year as president.

We will miss Betty Wanser, Kay Darling and Marv Jacob whose board terms end this year. They all three made many valuable contributions. We look forward to the past expertise and good ideas that have always come from Charlie Wade and the new things we can expect from Fran Brock and Gordon Cochran. Our board is now truly represented from coast to coast from Florida to Massachusetts and from southern California to Washington state. The board will meet July 24 for a day-long session to place for the coming year.

STAFF

Kelly Thran who has been working at the museum since January has accepted a full time position with us as assistant editor of the newsletter and assistant to Karen Kneisley, our curator. Karen will be the editor at least for a while. She has a lot of experience in newsletter editing as well as graphic design from work at the Columbus Museum of Art. Kelly has a degree in English and journalism. With this team of these two energetic young women we should be seeing the most professional newsletter yet. With extended hours and more space we may be adding staff either part or full time and there may need to be changes in job descriptions. We presently have to fine college girls working part time to fill in wherever needed by Karen and Kelly. Getting the proper staffing to make our museum top notch will require a fair share of thought and time by the board and the executive committee. There may have to be some trial and error to achieve the optimum. This is part of growing.

Our restored and expanded facilities will mean increased visibility and attendance.

GOALS

With the new complex of buildings in place and our facilities being first class there are two areas that I think are extremely important to start working on in earnest. One is our educational programs. We need to have a museum that appeals to everyone from elementary school children to senior citizens with leisure time. We need to reach thousands of people each year—not just Heisey glass collectors. The more visitors we can attract, the more collectors we can expect. We need to work toward accreditation. This can lead to grants. I believe we now have the facilities and the professional staff to be able to achieve this. We must constantly work on our programs.

The other key to our future is our endowment fund. This fund has been growing steadily for several years and we received about $10,000 for this fund from Study Clubs and individuals at our annual meeting this past weekend. I wish to thank all who generously contributed. However, we need a large fund to perpetuate this fine museum. We have an Endowment Committee who has started to work this year with a goal of $500,000. This will take support, ideas and projects with participation from everyone. If you would like to serve on this committee or have any ideas please contact me. If we can raise more than $600,000 in 24 months to build a new facility it should be equally important to raise the money to endow it. Let's all work together on this.

Please send your kind thoughts to Linda Barnes, Jerry Gallagher and Louise Ream, who have been in the hospital recently.

ANNUAL MEETING

Amy Jo Jones, Secretary

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 a.m. by president Sam Schnaidt so that voting could commence. At 8:30 a.m. the roll of study clubs was called. The first club to report was the newly formed Oregon Trails Heisey Study Club, who received their charter which will hang with thirty-six others in the museum. Twenty-seven clubs answered the roll call and gave reports of club activities. Some gave donations of glass to the museum and contributions to the Endowment, Education, Research and Archives and General Funds. Money was also given for furnishings needed throughout the museum complex. Tributes were paid to Irene Rauk, Frank Friel and the mother of Miriam Pringle (these donations will be listed in the August issue). The polls closed at 9:00 a.m.

The reading of the minutes of the March meeting was waived. The membership report was given by the secretary Amy Jo Jones.

The treasurer's report was given by Larry Stickle. He reported the museum expansion and renovation of the King House has been completed and expenses met. The report was approved.

Sam Schnaidt thanks Dick Smith and Chauncey Delaney for their work as convention co-chairmen.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Convention Committee—Sam Schnaidt introduced the chairmen of the convention, Dick Smith and Chauncey Delaney, and expressed appreciation for their work. In turn they thanked all committee members who worked so diligently in staging Convention 93. Display chairman Janet Caswell presented certificates to display exhibitors. Virginia Johnson, hospitality chairman, expressed gratitude to individuals and study clubs who responded to her request for donations to the hospitality lounge in the Multi-Purpose Room.

Bylaws Committee—Chairman Tom Bishoff reported the committee has taken under advisement a method by which absentee voting can be improved in order to allow as many voting members as possible to vote no matter when they apply for a ballot. A recommendation will be made to the Board of Directors at a later date.

Museum/Expansion Committee—Sam Schnaidt expressed the great debt HCA owes to the chairmen of the expansion project, Larry Stickle and Norm Thran, who dedicated countless hours overseeing the project. Larry Stickle gave a brief overview of the project and acknowledged the work of many, many people toward the goal. Norm Thran summarized the fund raising campaign stating to date $660,022 has been raised to date which is in excess of funds required for project expenses.

Also acknowledged was Amy Jo Jones and Dick Smith, Executive Committee members, Frank Frye, Cadillac/Lincoln dinner chairman, and Charlie Wade, Animal Series chairman.

Endowment Committee—Chairman Bob Ryan stressed the increased need for continued awareness and support of the Endowment Fund now that the expansion project is complete. He stated a minimum of $2 million at some point would be needed to meet museum expenses. Approximately $130,000 is held in the fund to date. He announced that Charles and Patsy Nesbit were the first participants of the new Endowment Membership levels. Mr. Ryan urged others to meet the challenge.

OLD BUSINESS

Sam Schnaidt briefed the membership on the situation of the Lavender Ice Flying Mares and Kingfishers being sold illegally. He stated a theft complaint would be filed in West Virginia. Sam urged everyone to be aware of this and to let any member of the Executive Committee or Board of Directors know if other pieces are found.

During a question and answer period Sam answered the following questions.

Q. Are all glass items marked when produced in an original Heisey mold?

A. By Board directive, all pieces are marked with HCA, the manufacturer logo and the year when possible. Also, no item can be produced in a color originally produced by Heisey (such as a crystal Flying Mare).

Q. Why did the Board allow an outside group to use the Tiger Paperweight mold?

A. The Board entered into an agreement with the Licking County Athletic Boosters to produce a "panther" (to signify Panther Pride) as a means of fundraising for their group. The mold was not "rented" to the group—all business transactions were handled through HCA. A royalty was paid to HCA on each item sold by the group and the offering was made available to HCA members with all profits to HCA. A cooperative effort of this type was seen by the Board as good community relations.

Q. Do we let any group use our molds?

A. Molds as such are not "used" by any one other than HCA. the Board's decision to enter into an agreement whereby glass items are made on a limited basis for any group and made available to HCA members as well is made on a case-by-case basis.

Q. Has the 501 (C) (3) status been addressed when using the molds?

A. Stan Darling, HCA attorney, is consulted and has been advised on transactions to date.

San Schnaidt announced the Gift Shop has been renamed the Museum Shop to more accurately reflect the type of merchandise sold. He further advised the Board has voted to limit items sold in the shop to relevant items reflecting what is on display in the museum.

Convention dates for 1994 will be June 15-19. Headquarters will be the new Cherry Valley Lodge in Newark off Rt. 16. Reservations may be made by calling (614) 788-1200 or 1 (800) 344-5001.

Betty Wanser and Marvin Jacobs, Board of Directors members not seeking re-election, were acknowledged and thanked by Sam Schnaidt for their years of service.

Results of the election of directors were as follows: Gordon Cochran, Washington; Fran Brock, California; Amy Jo Jones, Ohio; Charlie Wade, Ohio; and Sam Schnaidt, Ohio. The oath was given by Norm Thran, HCA vice-president.

The meeting was adjourned.

Norm Thran gives the oath of office to Sam Schnaidt, Gordon Cochran, Amy Jo Jones, Frank Brock and Charlie Wade.

Views from the Fundraiser

Norm Thran, Vice-President

The Expansion Program and Fund Raising for the New Addition and King House Restoration Are Complete.

The initial concept was presented to the members in June 1991 and completed and dedicated on June 16, 1993.

The efforts of so many volunteers made this program a success as well as the support of members who participated in the broad-based programs to fund this task. During the past two years more than $660,000 was raised for the program from outside sources, members and special projects. Not one penny was borrowed and no individuals received compensation. All the volunteers' efforts were donated and much success was derived from this. Volunteer time, free labor, use of vehicles, etc. saved HCA thousands of dollars.

If you were here in June for convention you were witness to this wonderful addition and the King House restoration. All members are urged to visit during the next year and see for yourself the effort put forth by the Expansion, Museum and Special Project Committees.

This will be the last column by the Fundraiser and I will assure you all that I speak for all of the individuals on these committees in thanking all who supported us—you all should be proud.

Let's Take a Look at the Numbers

Total as of May 5, 1993	$591,835.00
Donation from
Longaberger Company	15,000.00
Sale of Excess Wood	1,000.00
Donations/Gifts from
Members/Study Clubs	4,187.00
Items Sold at Auction	445.00
Gem and Gold Series Payments	4,000.00
Special Rosalene Items	21,555.00
Projected Income Next 12 Months
Gold & Gem Series Payments	22,000.00
TOTAL	$660,022.00

Now that the physical facilities are in place, it would be wise if we all were to focus on the needs for the future preservation of Heisey glass through education programs and the Endowment Fund. I am confident you will all agree and continue your support.

Curator's Report

Karen D. Kneisley

Everyone here warned me about the exhausting week of convention. I've lived through similar events at other institutions, but I hadn't taken into account one important factor—you people are fanatics! This, of course, is not a bad thing. You've amassed an incredible collection and now you've opened a new facility for its presentation. All of the positive comments and heartfelt awe were wonderful relief for this worn-out curator.

But we can't rest yet. As Sam Schnaidt and Norm Thran say in their columns, the building is only the beginning. The National Heisey Glass Museum and HCA are in the limelight and people will be watching our every move. Expanded exhibition space is only the tip of the education iceberg. We need to build in other areas such as endowment and programming.

As of this writing I haven't guided a group of children through the new museum yet; that'll happen next week. But, judging by the response of my own offspring, it'll be as exciting for them as it is for even the most devoted Heisey collector. We need to capture this enthusiasm and nurture it. With careful planning, there is plenty here to interest a wide range of visitors.

Changes are already in place. The first week after convention we opened, on a trial basis, with new hours: 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Saturday, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Even with no advertising we have had visitors waiting for us to open at 9:45! Couple this with free admission through the month of July and we'll have a significant increase in attendance for the summer.

One thing that will never change is the need for volunteers to assist with our day-to-day and long-range operations. Now more than ever, docents, door greeters and shop clerks will be our most valued personnel. Heisey News is always in need of insightful articles and interesting finds. I urge you to consider giving HCA some of your spare time. There are even projects for our members in distant places. Give me a call or drop me a line with your availability.

Sons of Italy donated materials and volunteer time for the courtyard landscaping.

Heisey Collectors of California prepared decorations with the "Goodness Gracious" theme.

Museum Volunteers for May and June

While the museum was closed there was a flurry of activity. Volunteers helped unpack and clean glass, arrange displays, clean up assorted messes and send the newsletter. During the week of convention volunteers greeted visitors, served refreshments and helped in the Museum Shop. Our hats off to all who helped make our reopening a success.

A Delightful Dedication

Carl Sparacio

The highlight of the 1993 Heisey Convention week was without a doubt, the dedication of the National Heisey Glass Museum's new addition. For one fleeting moment I, ace reporter for the Heisey News, believed that I was assigned the task of reporting this event because of its importance. I was wrong. I drew the assignment because I was a nay sayer from day one concerning the feasibility of this project. This assignment is the editor's idea of poetic justice.

Ignore the churning stomach sounds you hear as you read about the addition "we didn't need, couldn't afford, and the economy was not right for" — that's just me eating crow.

Participants gather in the new courtyard.

It was a picture perfect evening when the premier event of this year's convention took place. The weather in Newark, which cannot often be described as delightful, was exactly that. By the 6:30 p.m. starting time at least 300 people had gathered for the dedication ceremony (this crowd estimate was scientifically arrived at — I counted shoes and divided by two. The final number actually came to 300 1/2 so I rounded it off. Somebody must have lost a shoe).

I would be remiss in reporting on the dedication without mentioning the beautiful courtyard installed at the entrance of our new addition. The garden design was done by landscape consultants hired by the City of Newark for Veteran's Park where the Heisey Museum and its new addition sit. It will eventually include the entire block front. Labor was contributed by the local chapter of the Sons of Italy, who cleaned and prepared the old brick used for the walks, installed the fountain centerpiece, and finished the garden plantings (with the help of a few daughters of Italy) literally minutes before the program was to start.

A table of appetizers and two bars (the kind you drink at) were strategically placed about the courtyard and a five piece brass band provided great festive sounds.

Right on schedule, Stan Darling, the HCA's official Pro Bono Mouthpiece, opened the program. Stan, never at a loss for words, introduced and acknowledged the people who's effort made this museum expansion possible. To repeat them all here would make this piece read like a telephone book — we'll note just a few.

First to be introduced was the guest of honor, Mary Heisey Merrill, granddaughter of August, Daughter of Clarence and sister to Tim Heisey. Then Stan recognized HCA President Sam Schnaidt, a non-stop dynamo with a perpetual HCA vision. Special mention was made of Sam's long suffering, hard working wife, Heidi Schnaidt. Heidi has earned the right to be addressed as Ms. Heidi Rodham Schnaidt.

Norm Thran, another constant motion machine, was singled out as fund raiser extraordinaire. It's likely Norm will receive an award from Alltell as Telephone User of the Year. Also acknowledged were members of the committees who put it all together and, of course, Louise Ream, founding mother of this organization, was recognized and applauded.

Stan got through expounding just about the time I finished my wine (I sip slowly) and he relinquished the microphone to President Sam who directed the on-lookers as to who would eat and who would visit the Museum. Things were done by the numbers and worked efficiently. Sam then introduced Newark's Mayor, Frank Stare. Mayor Stare and Louise Ream were called upon to cut the ribbon at the door of the imposing new museum expansion building. That done, the museum addition was now officially dedicated and its doors opened to visitors.

Being in the eat first group (there is a God) I tried not to peek at the museum as we entered and headed for the lower level for an excellent spread of food served buffet style. I particularly liked the fresh strawberries you could pour either hot chocolate or lemon sauce over but my wife, who lacks any spirit of adventure, insisted I select a more traditional entree and save the strawberries for dessert.

When done, we rode the elevator up to the second museum level where I thought I'd died and gone to Heisey Heaven. On this level all the Heisey colors are displayed in examples of the many patterns in which they were made. Everything sparkled (thanks to the staff and volunteers at the museum). The handcrafted, custom made display cases complimented the glass beautifully and it would be worth a trip to Newark just to see them. They are beautiful.

We eventually arrived, via another elevator ride, on the first floor at the main entrance (where you'd begin if, unlike me, you did things properly). An octagonal display case featuring the famous Heisey animals is strategically placed to greet guests as they enter. The rest of the floor shows off Heisey rarities in the same handsome display cabinets and in approximately the same open layout as the second level. Shelf upon well-lit shelf hold Heisey's finest. From the oohs and aahs heard constantly throughout the room you'd think visitors were at a fourth of July fireworks display.

For our finale we went on into the refurbished King House, the original National Heisey Glass Museum. The center of the first floor has been opened up for a much needed gift shop expansion and the entire interior has been redecorated. The carpeting alone will knock you eyes out. "Magnificent", best describes it. The King House is the beautiful place it always was and now it is once more bright and fresh.

To ice the cake you need only return to see the Heisey Museum complex lit on the outside after dark. Members could not ask more of their museum. The glass it honors is beautifully displayed in a facility equal to its task.

Yes, I ate crow but I've been big about it. I suffered the "I told you so" taunts as magnanimously as could be expected but, between you and me, I prefer eating strawberries doused in hot chocolate.

Convention Banquet Speakers: Ken Dalzell and Eva Zeisel

Walter Ludwig

The convention banquet this year provided two very exciting and interesting speakers. Ken Dalzell is the former president of Fostoria Glass Co. and currently owner and president of Dalzell Viking. Eva Zeisel is an internationally recognized industrial designer who was the art director at Heisey from 1953 to 1954.

Ken and Georgia Dalzell at the banquet.

Ken Dalzell related the history of his family's four generation association with the glass business starting with his great-grandfather, W.A.B. Dalzell, who with his brothers started their first glass business in 1883. He went on to become president of the Fostoria Glass Company in Moundsville, West Virginia. His son, grandson and great-grandson would succeed him in this position. Mr. Dalzell spoke of the current operation at Dalzell Viking including the private mold work done for HCA in producing the Gem Series and other items in Lavender Ice. See the January 1993 Heisey News, "The Dalzell Influence" to learn of some of the things Ken Dalzell related to us in his speech.

Our second speaker, Eva Zeisel, was not announced in the pre-convention publicity because of the uncertainty of her travel schedule. Sam Schnaidt was responsible for contacting her and working out the arrangements for her visit to Newark. Eva Zeisel has been a pioneer in the field of industrial design for more than 50 years. When she joined Heisey she already had a reputation for her ability to turn her ideas in marketable lines for many companies. She is especially known for her work for several china companies, notably Red Wing and Hall. She told us of the beginnings of the first industrial designers back in Mesopotamia who were able to produce cheap replacements for jewels by putting a glass cover on pebbles. She related how glass and pottery help us to understand different cultures and traditions. Her idea of a good designer is a good-humored, generous person given to playful activity. It would not do for him to be a "sourpuss."

We learned of her remarkable history, starting as a potter's apprentice in her native Hungary, her jobs as a designer for several German companies, and then her work in Russia helping to establish their ceramic industry. She was jailed for 16 months during one of Stalin's anti-foreign purges and was miraculously released. Ms. Zeisel went back to Hungary and was barely able to escape when Hitler invaded. She made her way to the United States in 1937. She is now working on a new line of furniture made of wood which will once again allow us to see her products on the commercial market. Recently she was presented honorary Doctorates from the Parsons School of Design and the Royal College of Art.

Heidi Schnaidt, Walter Ludwig, Eva Zeisel and Sam Schnaidt at the banquet.

Ms. Zeisel closed her speech by recalling a visit to the Heisey factory around Christmas time. As the sun was setting, she went into a huge multi-domed room with small patches of light glowing from the glory holes of the furnaces, and as it got darker the workers started to sing Christmas carols. This image has left a lasting impression on her.

For more information on Eva Zeisel, her life and work for Heisey see the Heisey News, December 1977, August-October 1987 and July 1992.

An Interview with Eva Zeisel

Walter Ludwig

Eve Zeisel with one of her creations: Town and Country in Dawn.

It was my privilege to have had a special interview with Eva Zeisel. There were many aspects of her relationship with Heisey that I wanted to find out more about.

Ms. Zeisel is a dynamic person. She was just as interested in us as collectors as we were in her and her work. Given her long and varied career she did not remember a lot of details of her work for Heisey. The designs were remembered, not the day to day transactions. She visited the Heisey factory only periodically. She worked out of her studio in New York with five to seven assistants. She would do the basic design drawings and then the piece would be produced in a plaster cast. The company would then be presented with the cast and exact engineering drawings of each piece for the company to put into production. I asked her if she ever had to rework a piece because of problems with the mold. She told me this was never necessary. She always got it right the first time.

Ms. Zeisel stated that her designs for Heisey tended toward simplicity because she had the impression from previous trips here that the company was on shaky grounds and she felt that well-designed, simpler patterns would be more economically produced and still succeed in the marketplace.

She did state that she was responsible for Heisey introducing the color Dawn. I asked her if she had been influenced by Swedish designs in her work for Heisey. Her reply was that influences go in all directions and one cannot ascribe any one source for an inspiration.

She did not have specific memories of the Heisey family but did recall that it was Harold Dunham, assistant sales and advertising manager at Heisey, who had shown her Granville, which she found to be a charming town. Small town life has always had a special fascination for her.

Eva Zeisel's presentation at the banquet was spellbinding. Exuding warmth and charm, she effortlessly portrays her philosophy of what a designer must be. After the banquet's conclusion, she graciously met with members of the audience. She signed a number of autographs, including one on a piece of Dawn Town and Country. Of course, she immediately recognized it as one of her own designs.

The next step, barely started, is to inventory, catalog and computerize the holdings. It is this step which has provided the "fun" part of what, to this time, has been largely a dusty, dirty chore.

In the last few months I feel as though I have become an intimate member of the Heisey family, perhaps too intimate. From perusing Tim Heisey's letters home from Reminiscing with Imperial Glass Company's former retail (Hayshed) plant outlet manager, Robert J. Burns, caused an amusing trip down memory lane. Meeting in the Heisey Museum's library this fall, I experienced a veritable show and tell of related advertising items for Imperial.

Part of the fun and adventure of acquiring collectibles, is the study of a manufacturer's advertising and promotional items. I inspected an automobile compass, paperweights, a badge, pen knife, finger file, matches, fabric patches and even a wallet. These treasures comprise a good portion of what Imperial had produced and

Enchanting Glassware

Its beauty captivates you. "Wonderful!" The exclamation slips from you involuntarily.

Through more years than cover a generation fine glassware made by Heisey has been a focusing point of wide admiration. For Heisey craftsmen are specialists in fine glassware.

Bell-like ring of true quality: charm of pattern and contour—delightful color—the fascinating Flamingo and dainty Moon Glimmer; the "look" and "feel" of the genuine—these you will find in Heisey's exquisite products.

How would you bid these hands?

For the Smart Table

From the almost infinite variety of enchanting creations by Heisey you can choose a complete service or a partial set to be added to later.

You will want such glassware for your own. Ask your store to let you see it. You will know it by its manifold quality and the well-known Heisey trade mark.

Heisey's Glassware is ideal for gifts at all times. Write for your copy of our new booklet, "Gifts of Glassware," printed in color.

inscribed with their logo. Imperial had a comb and hanger, however the fanciest item of their's must be Richard Ross's Imperial necktie which he dons the famous apparel during the Imperial Convention Auction.

Though a myriad of H.C.A. sanctioned Heisey related items have been produced over many years, (e.g. mugs, plates, paperweights, etc.), I have not seen a plethora of Heisey logo imprinted promotional items. However, Heisey adds are legendary and can readily be discovered in the Museum's archives. But, it's a special treat to examine the actual advertising items firsthand.

I feel certain that so many fun collectibles for both Imperial and Heisey were tossed away and taken for granted. Thank goodness for those who cared enough to preserve these historical bits and pieces of America.

Smart Tables in Summer

Summer tables, smart and gay—sparkling as the ocean under an unclouded sky—lureful as the breezes that set the ships a-skimming!

Yes, fine glassware does produce enchanting effects. Whether in crystal or fascinating colors, Heisey's Glassware adds new delights to summer events.

Graceful bowls for flowers. Practical plates for soup, for salads, for desserts. Large sandwich plates. Cobblers, sherbets and fruit cocktails. Iced tea glasses. Charming cups and saucers. A galaxy of pieces, designs and patterns for every use, exquisitely fashioned.

And colors to suit any whims of decoration: Hawthorne, the delicate tint of the amethyst—Flamingo, like the sunset glow—Moon Glimmer, the given of summer meadows. At your store you will know them by the trade mark, Heisey's stamp of quality.

Write for a copy of the booklet, "Gifts of Glassware," promptly illustrated in color. It should be happy gift suggestions for all occasions.

Museum Shop

Among the improvements made during the King House restoration, the Museum Shop was expanded. The old kitchen was removed, nearly doubling the area of the sales floor. Additional glass shelving was installed allowing for an increased inventory. Sales during the convention were stupendous, but we still have wonderful items — new ones and old favorites — left for purchase.

Remember, even if you can't make it to Newark, we're just a phone call away. Call (614) 345-2932 and as for the Museum Shop. We'll be happy to take your order over the phone. Whether looking for a gift or adding to your collection or library, keep us in mind.

Here is a sampling of our inventory.

On the Book Shelf

HCA is happy to offer two new catalogs — No. 56 and No. 102 — that were previously unavailable as reprints. From 1909 and 1924, these books are useful to collectors focusing on earlier Heisey patterns and those who strive to keep their library complete. Both are $19.95

Frosted Animals

Animals in both Lavender Ice and Rosalene are still available, including everyone's favorites, the Flying Mare. Prices vary.

Oscars

We have Oscars from several years. If you need 1977-1979, 1981-1985, 1987-1989 or 1991 (frosted), give the Shop a call.

MADONNA
9" high

Madonnas

Heisey's elegant Madonna is available in a variety of colors including the new Lavender Ice ($28.50).

And Don't Forget ...

Did you order your Cabochon sign in Lavender Ice? Available clear or frosted, $17.00

Coming Soon

The HCA Board of Directors has approved the set of Heisey Geese as the next items to be produced in Lavender Ice. Quantities and production dates have not been set, we'll keep you posted.

CLUB NOTES

HCC donated $4,000 at the Annual Meeting.

#13 Heisey Collectors of California

Bill Brakemeyer

Heisey Club of California met on May 24, 1993 in Lakewood, California at the home of Chuck and Linda Fowler. Bob and Diane Dickison co-hosted with refreshments.

Active members attending voted to provide campaign flyers for Frances Brock at the convention. The club had at least fifteen members present in Newark this year.

Members approved the following donations to HCA:

$300.00 Cadillac-Lincoln Dinner (March 1993)

$25.00 Hospitality

$420.00 Convention decorations

$300.00 Education fund

$4000.00 Endowment fund

Also included will be proceeds from the sale of the decoration and ribbons which were donated at the annual meeting.

Bud Thorup was elected to represent HCC at the annual meeting, cast the club vote, and make the presentations. An informative program on #1252 Twist pattern was given by Bill Brakemeyer with a generous display of items provided by members. Members shared their recent show and tell items found at locations in Southern California and elsewhere.

The Oregon Trails Heisey Study Club received their charter at the Annual Meeting.

#33 Golden Gate Heisey Collectors Club

Fran Shields

It was a perfectly beautiful spring day (80+ degree temperature), when we met at the lovely, lovely home of Bob and Roberta Lawrence in Vacaville for our G.G.H.C.C. meeting May 1, 1993. We began the afternoon gathering with our usual business meeting. A discussion ensued about the upcoming Newark Heisey Convention (June 16-20) and the club's vote for Board election members. A fair number of GGHCC members attended the Convention this year.

Our ever informative and varied "show 'n tell" followed the business meeting. This is always a great learning segment for the novice folks in the group - me included. We're constantly amazed at how much better the items look and feel "in person" than reference book pictures (good though they be) show them.

The Lawrences then hosted a scrumptious pasta dinner complete with tossed salad served from a Victorian punch bowl (great idea) and yummy garlic bread. A classic dessert of ice cream topped with big fresh red-ripe strawberries was the crowning touch to this delicious meal. This was all enjoyed in Bob and Roberta's delightful backyard (via the infamous screen door).

Darkness came, and reluctantly we bid our farewells 'til next time' If you missed the sojourn to Vacaville, you missed a "goody" !

Finders Keepers - the following Heisey items were on display for "Show and Tell" at the May meeting in Vacaville.

#462 Nails square large nappy, #1250 Groove and Slash cruet, #3350 Wabash grapefruit and icer in Amber flashing, #1567 Plantation mayo with Ivy etch, Bob Kneass

#355 Quator individual cream and sugar set, #3362 Charter Oak parfait in Moongleam, 2 #393 Narrow Flute indiv. cream and sugar sets (1 Crystal, 1 Flamingo) and a #1503 Crystolite handled jelly with "webbed" bottom, Fran and Russ Shields

#3380 Old Dominion wine in Sahara, #1467 Ridgeleigh wine, #3362 Charter Oak cocktail in Flamingo, #300 single 10" candelabras, Pam and Marlon Bradley.

#1467 Ridgeleigh cruet & cigarette & ashtray on a filigree stand, Gloria Custer

#112 Candleholder, Hawthorne, #112 w/ Rose etch, #1255 Pineapple & Fan tumbler, Emerald w/ gold trim, Lee Jone and Russ Nicholas

This weekend falls at the end of the last Brimfield Week in 1993, the largest flea market on the east coast.

Four thousand dealers — 12 concurrent shows, for one week — only six miles from Sturbridge, MA. A forty five minute drive takes you to Boston, MA, Hartford, CT and Providence, RI — all wonderful cities to visit. Plan a fall vacation and enjoy it all!

Hotel/motel reservations should be made as soon as possible. A block of rooms has been reserved at the Host, so call the Host at (508) 347-7393 or the Sturbridge Visitors Information Center at (508) 347-7594 or 1-800-628-8379 for other motel information.

A word about the all Heisey Auction. Sam Schnaidt and Apple Tree Auction Service have been kind enough to lend a hand and train Yankee Club members for the auction. Sam & friends will do the auctioneering and in general it will be a mini- March Benefit auction for HCA — same rules, same procedures. More about this in next month's Heisey News. The Yankee Club has invited the other New England Heisey Clubs to participate and everyone will be working on what promises to be a great Heisey weekend. We anticipate enthusiastic attendance Reminder — this year's souvenir is the Double Horse-head in Lavender Ice. Details will be in the August issue.
