President's Update

Amy Jo Jones

If I had to pick a favorite time in the HCA year, it would be December. This is one of the months when the museum looks its best from the lush green wreath on the front door to soft candlelights in the windows. Who wouldn't be filled with Heisey holiday spirit to sit down at a dining table as elegantly set as the one in the King House? We are all eager to share this mood with many holiday visitors.

December is the time to review the past year to determine our progress. HCA members can be proud of the success of projects such as the Cadillac/Lincoln Dinner, March Benefit Auction, participation in convention activities and the glass and antique show in June, souvenir dinner in September, and special glass sales throughout the year. Study club involvement in support of the museum is still strong with clubs donating services, glass, volunteer hours, and funds. Success of these programs has greatly benefited the Endowment Fund bringing it to a total of $415,000 an increase from $369,00 one year ago. All of these endeavors point to a strong, committed membership.

Looking ahead to 1995, plans are underway in many areas. Bob Rarey and Jim Clark are preparing to stage the annual All-Heisey Benefit Auction in March and are calling for all consignments by January 3. In addition to your twelve lots, we are again asking for your generosity in donating glass the proceeds of which will benefit the Endowment Fund. Donations last year were very much appreciated and made a sizable contribution to the fund.

Other chairmen preparing their agenda for 1995 include Sam Schnaidt, nominating committee chairman. Help him prepare his slate of nominees for election as an HCA director by agreeing to accept a nomination. Sam would also welcome your assistance in selling tickets for the March fund raiser and in staging this very important event in the HCA year. Needing volunteers to conduct our biggest production, the annual convention, is Karen O'Hare. Contact her at the museum if you can help as a greeter, work on a committee, or if you or your study club can take on a project such as banquet decorations. All are very critical ingredients to the success of our convention and can be well handled by any of our members away from Newark.

As 1994 draws to a close, I would like to thank the staff and docents who consistently throughout the year provide such good effort in making our museum run so smoothly. Their contributions are superb; seldom is it known how dicey day-to-day operations can get at times! They all deserve gratitude for making the museum such a haven; they make it easy and comfortable for all of our members and visitors to enjoy any time of the year. George Marovich has resigned as bookkeeper. We wish him well as he enters retirement.

One look at the guest book will verify there is no question the National Heisey Glass Museum is a treasure not only for our members, but for the community and even the nation. When you avail yourself of the opportunity to serve HCA, you are helping to make available to this large, attentive audience, one of the finest museums of its type. I wish you could see as many times as I do the look of sheer delight and amazement new visitors (even the repeat ones) express when they walk through the doors into Gallery One. Even though the HCA mission is to educate, most visitors find great enjoyment in the surroundings of the beautiful facility and grounds. Your continued support of HCA programs which contributes back so much to all is the best Christmas present you could give yourselves. For that, I thank you.

On behalf of the Board of Directors, I wish you all the happiest of holidays. ♦

Watch for the Oscar form on page 17. Remember 1995 will be the last year for the production of Sparky as a convention souvenir. Offered in "Goodness Gracious Brown."

Curator's Report

Karen D. Kneisley

I hope that everyone in Heiseyland is enjoying the holiday season. Things are very festive here. The King House is decorated beautifully, including the Dining Room which features a lovely spread of Crystal and Moongleam. Soon our museum will be filled with holiday revelers who are adding the Heisey touch to their holiday by joining us for our candy dish display (see below for more details) and our Open Houses. We're having three: two during regular daytime hours on December 3 and 17, and the annual Christmas in the Park evening event from 5 to 8 p.m. on December 10. I hope some of you out-of-towners can venture into Newark and see the museum in its glory this December. This would be a wonderful time to bring your nonmember friends and introduce them to the museum.

News from the Centennial Celebration front---our brochures are printed and initial publicity efforts are under way. Those of you who have graciously offered volunteer public relations assistance will soon receive your packets. You'll be armed and ready to spread the word about Heisey. I hope some more do-gooders will join our corps as we prepare for the year to remember.

Another exciting thing will happen in Newark concurrent to our Centennial Celebration. I have had the privilege of working with local businessman Howard LeFevre and his board on a Museum of Industry project. The new museum will highlight the industry of the Licking County area with hands-on exhibits and actual artifacts. His people anticipate opening some portion of the museum to coincide with our grand finale in 1996. Heisey Collectors of America will play a role in the new museum's operations through a glassmaking shop. Both sides are eagerly working to make this dream a reality and I'll keep you posted as details become available.

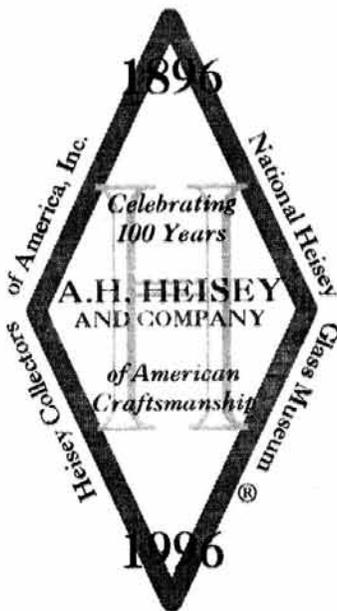

There will be other coincidental benefits that happen along the way to our celebration. My plans for our own museum include new displays that offer an historical context for Heisey's glass, as well as more detailed information about the patterns and pieces themselves. The first display of many can be viewed in Gallery 2, between the Flamingo and Moongleam sections. Here I have put together a selection of Twist pieces with labels and advertising samples that help to tell the story of this popular pattern. This kind of presentation adds a new perspective to our visitors' experience and is one of the ways we'll achieve the educational goals that we have set for the Centennial Celebration.

As you can see, there is a lot for Heisey collectors to be happy about this holiday season. I wish you the best. ♦

Focus on the Collection—Crystal Confections

Karen D. Kneisley

During the month of December we will present "Crystal Confections: Heisey Candy Jars and Dishes" in the museum's multi-purpose room. Those collectors with a sweet-tooth for Heisey glass won't want to miss this display of various containers produced to hold goodies.

Of course, the museum's collection represents the range of those famed #465 Recessed Panel jars, from the quarter-pound baby all the way up to the eight-pound grand dad. Boy, could you imagine the look on a child's face when he walked into the drug store and saw one of those jars filled to the brim with sweets?! We also have the larger version of the #341 Puritan candy jar to inspire childhood memories.

Candy jars were frequent candidates for decoration by outside companies. The museum's collection has an interesting selection of stained, painted and cut jars. Some of them are as festive as the treats that they were intended to hold. For example, we have a Recessed Panel jars stained with red stripes and a gold finial, with marigold matte stripes, with blue and gold decorations an with silver overlay. Some of our #1183 Revere jars feature floral cuttings, and one has a base cut to the shape of an octagon.

On the more elegant side, Heisey's #1430 Aristocrat jar is featured in several colors in the museum's collection—Crystal, Sahara and even Tangerine. Mint dishes and bon bons are shown in Heisey colors in #1229 Octagon, #1252 Twist and #1184 Yeoman. Candy boxes in graceful Crystal patterns, such as #1503 Crystolite, #1183 Stanhope and #1489 Puritan are also featured. Even after the Heisey factory closed the candy jars lived on in Imperial's colors. The museum features examples of the #1405 Ipswich, #1506 Provincial and #1590 Zodiac patterns.

"Crystal Confections" will feature a variety of the candy containers from the museum's collection, displayed together to show the variety of styles, shapes and colors that were available. Labels and advertising samples will help to tell the story and enlarged copies of Heisey holiday advertising will create a festive backdrop for the display. ♦

In thinking about Christmas do not forget that Heisey's Glassware makes a most ideal gift. It will win instant and lasting appreciation.

A Heisey Christmas Present —Begrudgingly

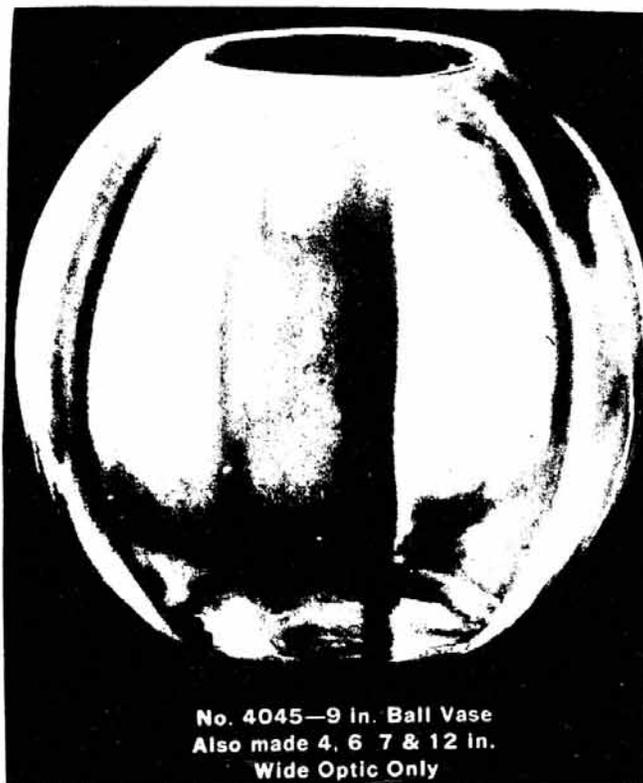

Carl Sparacio

Your HCA Board of Directors, Museum Curator (KK), and Heisey News Editor (KT), are frequently at odds with me (KS). They say (alas, they more than just say...they insist) that my contribution to the Heisey News be educational. I disagree that this is what an association newsletter should be and have fought a lone but valiant battle against the narrow view that drives that outrageous idea.

There are a number of reasons I feel as I do. First, I believe an ignorant membership is a happy membership, I'm always happiest when I don't know which end is up (how can a collector experience the despair of missing a rare piece of Heisey if he never knew that piece existed?); second, the only thing I have to share are these musings (is it my fault they're not enlightening?); third, there are members out there who are in desperate need of a dispensable page in our newsletter for their bird cages (is it fair to deprive them?); and fourth, I'm inherently selfish.

Coincidentally, this was to be an educational article on, "How to Line the Bottom of your Bird Cage with a Hard Cover Price Guide," but the editor rejected it because, as she said, "it's not directly Heisey related." Ha! you should have heard what I said to that...under my breath...500 miles away.

You are reading a beaten man. I have buckled under. I will share something educational in this space. This information was originally passed to me by Norm Thran, HCA Vice-President and father of KT. Norm is a share freak (I suspect it runs in the family) which isn't bad if you're the sharee. No matter, it's Christmas, so let's look upon this as a Christmas present from Norm-to-me-to you; sort of a Tinkers-to-Evers-to Chance triple play. The baseball analogy is kind of macho, don't you think?

No. 4045—9 in. Ball Vase
Also made 4, 6, 7 & 12 in.
Wide Optic Only

How many times have you found a ball vase and wondered if it was Heisey? (a ball vase with the Mermaid etch doesn't count). Color is sometimes a giveaway but not always, there are ball vases out there in colors similar to Heisey's that are not Heisey's. Heisey wide optic ball vases (vertical optics) can be found in Crystal, Sahara, Moongleam, Flamingo, Cobalt, Tangerine and Alexandrite. There is one clue that will make identification almost surefire, the optic inside the ball vase. If the color is right and the number of optics checks out, you're probably looking at a Heisey piece.

Here's how it shapes out, 2-inch, 3-inch, 4-inch, 6-inch, and 7-inch ball vases have ten (10) optics encircling the interior of each vase, and 9-inch and 12-inch ball vases have twelve (12) optics. Simple, isn't it? Well, nothing is that simple, back in second grade you learned or the "except in February" fly found in every ointment. Unlike other colors, a 6-inch Tangerine ball vase will have twelve (12) optics and the 9-inch Cobalt ball vase may be completely opticless. hey, don't look at me, I'm not responsible for what Heisey workers did when their foreman was out to lunch (judging from the number of whimsies turning up, that was quite often).

What about Saturn optic ball vase? You'll have to wait for an answer to that one, I'm still researching it. It's difficult to count spiral optics without getting dizzy. No matter, if it's a Zircon/Limelight ball vase, don't concern yourself with optics. Buy it and run then worry about who made it but know that there's a very dark Zircon-like "Saturn" optic ball vase you might find that belongs to Duncan Miller.

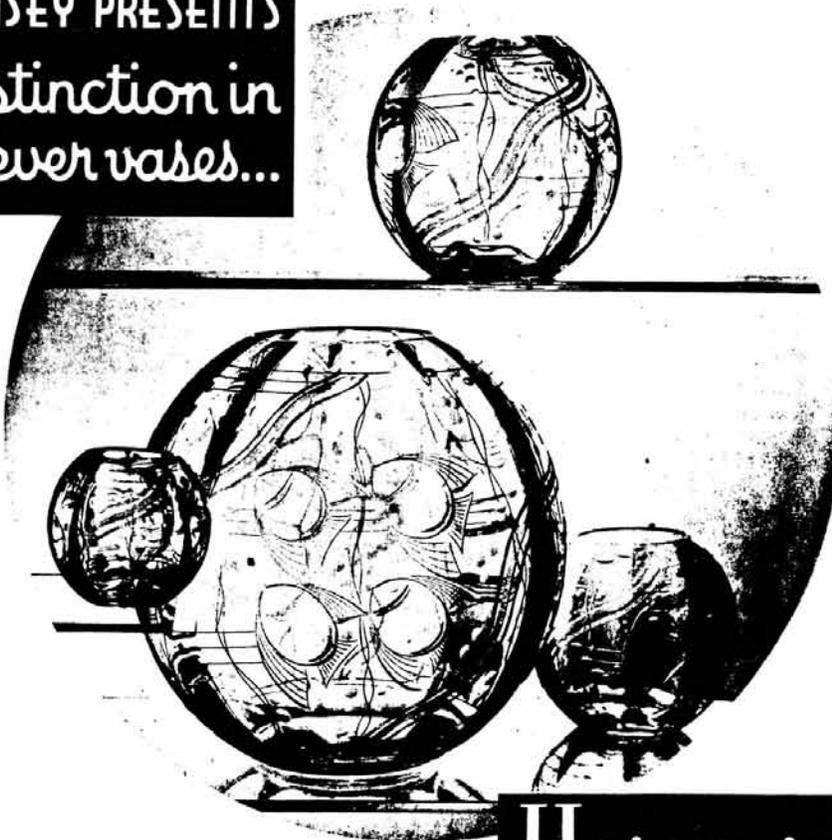

There, that didn't hurt, did it? (I'm talking to myself, thank you).

So, what are you doing for Christmas? Drop me a Christmas card and tell me about it. My own plans are simple, after my grandchildren fall all over themselves laughing at me in my Santa hat, I'm going to give a very special person a pair of Diamond H marked, 5 light, Alexandrite candelabras. That's the plan. So far, finding them has been less than fruitful. If nothing turns up by Christmas Eve I'll go to plan B, $10 in her name to the Heisey Endowment Fund. Either way I'm sure to be covered in kisses...or something.

You can join in the holiday joy, too. When you make out holiday checks for your mailman and newspaper delivery person, add one for the Endowment Fund and I will kiss you. Those who are turned off by that thought will be kissed if they don't send a check. Whichever way you swing, have a Merry Christmas, a Happy Hanukkah and a Heisey New Year.

God bless us, everyone. ♦

Heisey's
GLASSWARE for your table

● Charmingly decorative in themselves . . . in their modern-spirited cutting with its engaging marine motif . . . these new Heisey Ball Vases give splendor to the display of flowers. Customers captivated by the beauty of the glass, are intrigued by the possibilities offered for unique arrangements of bloom. Heisey's superb crystal metal was never more beautiful than in these exquisitely made Ball Vases. You'll agree that nothing quite equals them, in this country or abroad. The largest is a splendid twelve inches in height; the smallest four inches. Others illustrated are six and seven inches. A nine inch vase is also made. In addition to crystal, they are made in an assortment of colors. Prices are very reasonable for Heisey quality and distinction.

From the Archives

Don Valdes

It is the sociologist in me. Among the intriguing aspects of the advertisement cataloging endeavor is the view of the social scene of past years. The present article has been touched off by an issue from the archives (March 1913) of the Ladies Home Journal. We have the whole magazine sans cover. Of course, the reason for its being here instead long gone in some ancient land fill is the ad on page 60. (See Stout AD 3-13, page 115) But as previously mentioned, I, and I suspect not unlike most of you, got involved in other issues (definitely no pun intended) than Heisey glass, in this case, the status of women then and now.

From the first remaining page of this almost intact magazine, page three (HAPPY THOUGHTS FOR HAPPY DAYS), to the last (102), I see little comparable to a women's magazine of today. This you might expect. But is the degree of emphasis that is rather startling. Here is a copy of one of many editorial statements, written by a man, no doubt.

"The Woman Who Really Holds a Man"

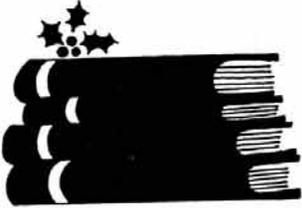

THE WAGE EARNING RIGHT OF A WIFE is a subject much under discussion these days. Women who have worked in offices are asking why they should not continue to add to the income rather than in household "drudgery." The answer lies in the domestic chaos which is created. The fundamental fact remains that a man marries because he wants a home with a wife in it. Against that fixed masculine ideal no woman can successfully contend. As every normal man desires a woman, and children born of woman, every normal man desires a house of his own to put them into. He does not merely want a roof above him, he wants an objective and visible kingdom; a fire at which is cooked the food he likes; a door he can open to what friends he chooses. This is the normal appetite of men. I do not say there are not exceptions. But, argue as you will, a woman's earning capacity is not an anchor to tie a man to domesticity. The toil of a wife may lead to a bank account, but it is the hearthstone woman who holds a man.

Oddly enough, that editorial had been preceded by this:

"Mary and Her Mother"

ONE OF THE SADDEST CONDITIONS in the humbler homes of America is the mother's absolute failure to be a real chum of her daughter. She does not seem to understand, she does not in many cases even try to understand, the girl's perfectly justifiable attempt to strive for a better education than her mother and elder sister may have had, to be a little finer than many of the people with whom she is constantly thrown. The perfectly natural desire to push on to something better and higher is the birthright of every girl, and every day thousands of mothers are missing priceless opportunities to win their daughters' confidence by pushing on with them hand in hand, instead of sitting back and saying that "Mary is getting such high ideas that she will soon be getting ashamed of her mother." The sad part of it is that Mary does become ashamed of her. But is it not because Mary's mother did not care enough to be the comrade of Mary?

So help me, the same issue of the same magazine and, I suspect, the same writer. Maybe life in 1913 wasn't all that well defined either. ♦

Don found this ad featuring #353 Medium Flat Panel hotel cream, grapefruit dish, water bottle and tumbler.

This ad coincidentally led him to womens working conditions in 1913.

We've come a long way!

Octagon Basket #500

Joe Lokay

The Octagon basket is the smallest of the baskets produced by A.H. Heisey and Company. The basket bowl measures $2\frac{3}{4}$ inches by $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches and is $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches high. With the applied handle included, the basket is $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches high. The catalog refers to the basket as a 5 inch basket. This refers to the width since the dimensions given for other Heisey baskets refer to the widest dimension of the basket bowl.

#500 Octagon was a small pattern line with only about eleven known items in the pattern the basket being one of the eleven. The pattern name was attributed to the eight sides. When one thinks of an octagon, one visualizes a form with eight sides equal in length. That is not the case for this pattern. Of the eight sides, there are four short sides, two medium and two longer sides. The octagon shape looks more like a rectangle with the four corners cut off.

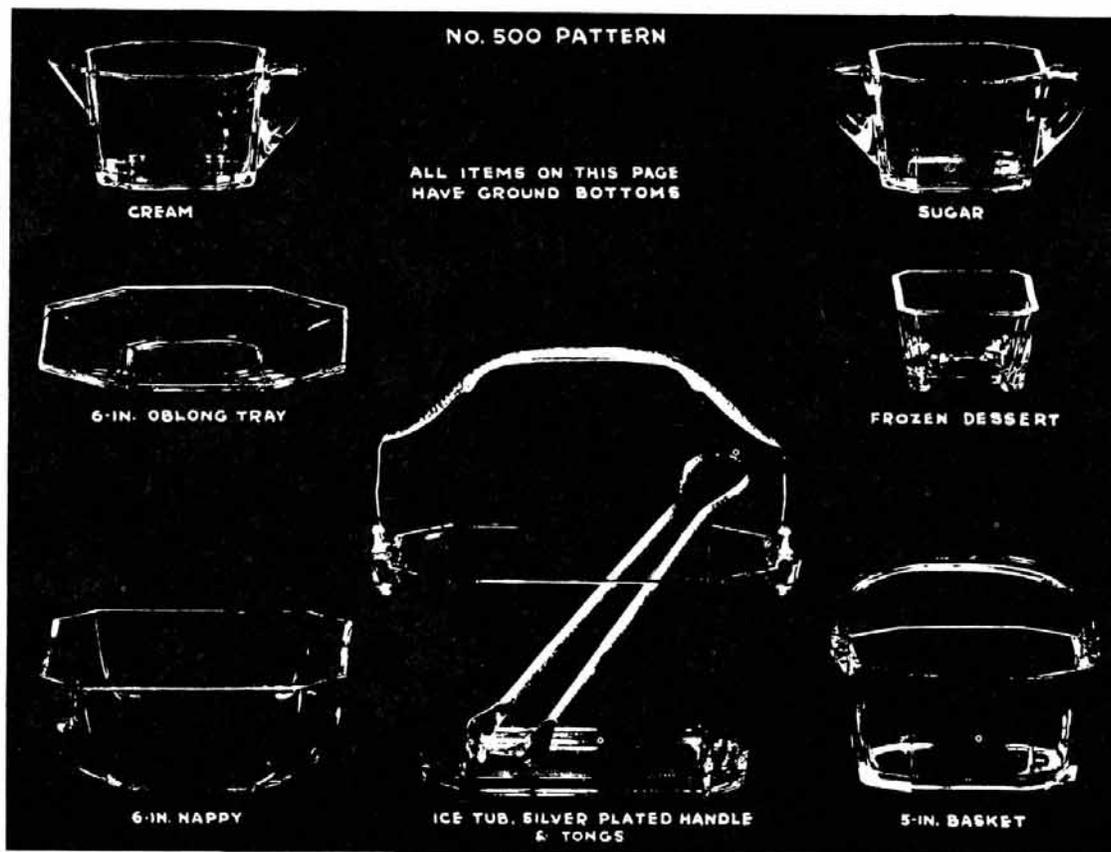

The following items in the pattern have the same shape as the basket bowl; cream, sugar, nappy, ice bucket and the frozen dessert. The ice bucket is several times larger in size than the basket bowl. The basket and other items in the pattern line are pictured in Heisey catalog #109 (circa 1929).

The #500 basket was made in four colors; Crystal, Flamingo, Moongleam and Marigold. Price list #209 (circa 1929) includes the basket in Crystal, Flamingo and Moongleam. I have seen the basket in Marigold. Price list #210 (circa 1933) lists the basket in Crystal only.

The estimated production period for the #500 basket in Crystal is eight years, 1928-1935. A shorter production period is estimated for the other three colors of #500 baskets. ♦

Heisey's Glassware

Whimsies—Brief Tidbits of Heisey History

Kelly Thran

*Did you know?...*In 1911 A. H. Heisey and Company published a handbook for the hostess entitled Table Glass And How To Use It. As the holiday season quickly approaches many of you will be spending countless hours in the kitchen preparing magnificent feasts for your family and friends, undoubtedly served on Heisey. Knowing this I thought you would enjoy some dining hints from A. H. Heisey and Company.

Introductory

Our object in presenting this little book is to show a few of the hundreds of designs of Heisey Glass especially fitted for service in the home. Everyone appreciates beautiful glass. In table service particularly, nothing can supplant it. Crystal clear, sparkling under the lights, it gives to the table a finishing touch of beauty and simple elegance.

Years ago gold filled watch cases began to supplant solid gold cases because it was found that the filled cases were just as handsome and a great deal more serviceable than solid gold cases, while costing only a fraction as much. In a similar way, many a housewife who loves dainty glassware has discovered that she can have a plentiful supply of the most beautiful things with neither the heavy expense nor the attendant feeling of responsibility which is entailed in using cut glass.

We send you Table Glass in the hope that you may find it interesting, instructive and helpful—worthy of a place among other good books on the home beautiful. If it brings to you a better knowledge of the beauty and serviceableness of Heisey Glassware, it have fulfilled its mission.

Dinnery

The Lighting—Oliver Wendell Holmes said, "The true essentials of a feast are only fun and feed." Every experienced hostess understands that proper lighting does much to encourage the fun and make the food attractive. Sparkling glassware is at its best at the evening meal, under the sheen of artificial lights.

Candlesticks and Candelabra—With the many inexpensive lighting pieces offered in the Heisey line, there is no reason why ever lover of beautiful table things should not have at least one complete set of candlesticks, and one large candelabrum for use on the more formal occasions. The reflection of shaded lights from the polished surfaces and prisms is very agreeable and brightens the table.

AT LEAST THREE TIMES A DAY
ALL OVER THE WORLD

HEISEY'S  GLASSWARE

Variety Needed—It is in planning and serving a dinner that the hostess most appreciates an ample supply of table glass. Here everything comes into use. All the "every meal" essentials—salt and pepper, sugar and cream, goblets and carafe horseradish jar, trays, fruit nappies, etc. Then there are many little special shapes one should have such as oyster cocktail glasses, celery trays, olive trays, cake plates, lemonade and claret pitchers, jelly saucers, tea caddies and numerous other things which are convenient to have at hand. Of course, the hostess will find a way to get along without many of these, but if a complete equipment of table glassware is at hand the task of preparing an attractive dinner is greatly simplified.

And finally the much anticipated—

Dessert

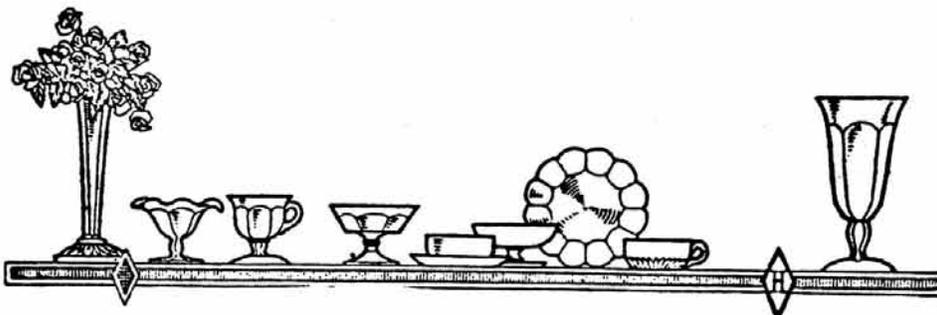

By the time the dinner has progressed to the dessert course, the edge has been taken from one's appetite and unconsciously one becomes more critical. Unusual care should be taken to see that the dessert is tempting in itself and perfectly served.

Custards, Parfaits, etc.—Custards are served in much the same way as sherbet or ice cream, but to be most effective they require special custard cups. These should be set in a glass or china saucer covered with a doily. Small cakes on glass plates generally accompany this course. Parfaits are served in tall glasses, with saucer and doily beneath.

Berries, Jellies and Blanc Mange—Berries are best served from a large berry bowl in the center of the table or perhaps from a serving table. Individual berry bowls are mounted on doilies with a shallow glass or china plate beneath. An abundance of rich cream and powdered sugar are, of course, essential. Serve slices of rich layer cake on glass cake plates. Many fruit jellies are sufficient in themselves and require no cake.

Nuts and Bon Bons—Individuals differ widely in their taste for nuts and candies, therefore it is best to so arrange that each may help himself. A glass saucer of good size is placed at each plate to receive the shells. The nut cracker and nut pick are placed beside this. Some prefer to crack the nuts before bringing them to the table, thus avoiding the use of the nut crack.

Of course, perhaps just as important as the meal itself is the arrangement of the table. A. H. Heisey and Company leader in fine made crystal boasted of the quality of Heisey glass as every day ware. Make this holiday season a Heisey season. ♦

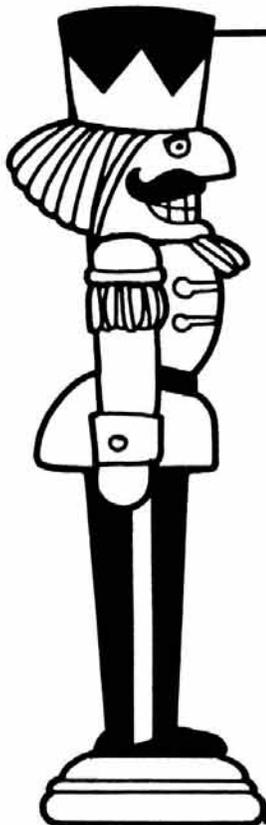

Endowment Report

Chuck Jones, Co-chairman

As 1994 comes to an end, the HCA Endowment Fund stands at a healthy $415,000. Endowment Memberships are beginning to increase and overall interest in the fund is becoming the focus of individual members and study clubs. The original goal of $500,000 by the year 2003 was so close to being exceeded the Endowment Fund Committee, at the June meeting, elected to increase the goal to $750,000 by 2003. Through the continued support of the individual members and study clubs that goal is realistic and attainable.

December traditionally is the month for gift giving. What better present than a gift to the Endowment Fund; not only the satisfaction of giving but the knowledge of being able to affect taxes to be paid for 1994.

December is also a month with a large number of membership renewals. Now is a great opportunity to renew as an Endowment Member. Several levels are available for participation with the difference of the chosen level and the basic membership being placed in the fund. The Endowment Membership roster will be published in the February 1995 issue of the Heisey News. ♦

From Down Under

Wesley "Brad" Bradford

The holidays are upon us and many of you will be shipping items (including you HCA auction glass), so I have compiled a checklist for you to use as a guide for good packaging.

Packaging

- * Choose a sturdy, undamaged container.
- * Use a carton which is strong enough to pass the 200 pound per square inch bursting test.
- * Make certain the flaps are intact.
- * Plan for extra space for adequate cushioning.

Cushioning

- * Use several inches of polyfoam peanuts or similar material in bottom of carton.
- * Wrap items separately and position them in center of carton.
- * Surround items with polyfoam peanuts or other similar material.

Closure

- * Use tape designed for shipping; it should be at least 2-inches wide.
- * Do not use cellophane tape, masking tape, or string.

Labeling

- * Use one address label on package.
- * Write legibly
- * Provide a complete delivery address, including zip code.
- * Include a duplicate mailing label inside the carton.
- * Label the carton FRAGILE (in red) on the top and sides.

Following the above guidelines will increase the chances of your package arriving safely at its destination. ♦

CLUB NOTES

Bay State Heisey Collectors Club #5

Susan Pescatore

The Bay State Heisey Club met on October 11 at its new location - The Follen Church in Lexington. Because an expanding membership has created a need for additional space, club members voted to meet there on a trial basis this year. Everyone expressed their gratitude to Jean and Maurice Walter, who have so generously allowed us to use their place of business for business for meetings for so long.

Big moments on Show and Tell were: #352 lavender jar; #1170 handled candlestick; a strong contender for an alternative #417 Tudor sugar sifter (pending research); an impressive #1401 Empress 16" cut buffet relish; and six pieces of #365 (Old) Queen Ann.

Our program was an interesting variant of Show and Tell: members were asked to bring their first piece of Heisey, their favorite piece, their greatest find, and/or their worst mistake.

Winner in the First Heisey Purchase Category: #1503 Crystalite powder jar, and #433 Greek Key crushed fruit jar (a tie). Favorite: everybody a winner. Winner in the Best Find Category: two #5063 Bantam Rooster cocktails. Worst Mistake: oddly enough, most of our members had apparently disposed of these years ago. ♦

Heisey Club of California #13

Fran Brock

The October club meeting was held at the Brock's home in San Dimas on October 23. Lunch and social hour over, we greeted three guests, Vivian Spicer, Megan Moureaux, and Cathy Short. A total of thirty-two were in attendance and the meeting was called to order by president Gene Moenning. Reports were made about the progress of the committee planning the December Quarterly HCA meeting and more members were signed up to help out at the auction, mixer and breakfast. The Auction Committee reports that we have 324 lots in the Benefit Auction to be held on Saturday December 3. All systems are go and we are hoping for a dynamite get-together! Under new business, we discussed HCC's really great Annual Christmas Bash to be held on December 10 at Terry Smith's in Signal Hill. Many of us travel really long distances to monthly meetings, some came as far as 75-100 miles for this meeting. Sometimes you luck out, and meetings are in your neighborhood (less than 20 miles) and other times it is all the way across the sprawling Los Angeles basin from you, or even San Diego. Considering all that, we feel we do have a great bunch of enthusiastic Heisey hunters at each meeting.

The program was one used before years ago, but always fun. Members brought their favorite piece of Heisey and told the reason why it was the favorite. We had funny, poignant, and unusual stories and a good selection of pieces to hear about. After that came Show 'N' Tell and that took a long time with lots of goodies shown. Bill Brakemeyer and Dave Molina had two tables full of finds to share, and many others had a nice selection of new pieces of Heisey. A lot of us travel and enjoy finding Heisey along the way and Chuck and Linda Fowler picked up some beauties from all over. Space limits listing all of them, but a list is published every month in our Pony Express of our "California Club Finds." (Become a member and get one every month, dues are $10 per year per household) We will not be having a November meeting this year. Meeting was adjourned with everyone leaving with great expectations about our hosting the December HCA Quarterly Meeting. See you then! ♦

Tri-State Heisey Club #43

Linda Bischoff

To create greater interest in Heisey in Northwest Ohio, our study club sold items from the museum shop and displayed Heisey from our own members collections at the Archbold Antique Show held October 29 and 30. Our display contained all of the Heisey production colors as well as over twenty-five different patterns.

Our club members enjoyed talking about Heisey with potential new HCA and Tri-State members. We sold $269 worth of books and glass items and hopefully gained four new members. We all agreed the weekend was a success and encourage other clubs across the country, with HCA Board of Director supervision, to try this project.

For more information about Tri-State, please contact Terry Maxwell (419) 485-8701 or Jo Ann McElheny (419) 537-6890. ♦

HCA December Quarterly Meeting & Auction
December 2 & 3 1994—Anahiem, California

Hosted by Heisey Club of California

By the time most of you receive and read this newsletter the HCA Quarterly Meeting and Benefit Auction will be History! We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you who were able to participate in this event by attending or consigning glass and purchasing glass as a mail bidder at the benefit auction.

Gene Moenning, HCC President and Fran Brock, HCA Board of Director, admire Heisey glass from the HCC Benefit Auction.

Our HCC members collectively spent many many hours planning, preparing and working December 2 and 3 to make these events a success. We will bring you the "Highlights" and hopefully some photographs from the December Quarterly Meeting and Auction in the January issue of the Heisey News.

A capacity crowd was expected at the Saturday, Heisey Benefit Auction, HCC's first live auction presented and open to public attendance. Glass auctions are seldom held in southern California. HCC has paid the expenses incurred for the auction so that twenty percent of the gross proceeds could be donated to the HCA Endowment Fund. Our goal of 300 lots of glass consigned was reached and the mail bid auction lists were mailed November 1 with 324 lots of glass offered. Eleven lots of glass were donated to the auction, so that one hundred percent of these proceeds will also be donated to the HCA Endowment Fund. We want to especially thank our thirty glass consignors for making this auction profitable! ♦
