Upon coming aboard HCA Don Valdes had enjoyed almost seven years of retirement—Now a member of the HCA family Don can only dream fondly of those seven years!

Don began sorting the archive materials in a little room above the administrative offices. Today, he has successfully organized, preserved and cataloged into the computer many of his finds. Much of what is "ADVERTISING." Fortunate, for HCA as we quickly move into our June exhibit on advertising.

President's Update

Amy Jo Jones

The 1995 Benefit Auction is now in HCA's history annals as the most successful ever. The total gross of the auction was in excess of $108,000. The preliminary figure as I write this Monday morning following the auction is more than $20,000 for the Museum Operating Fund. Donations for the Endowment Fund resulted in $2300. What contributed to the unqualified success of the auction? One of the main reasons is the fact members consigned more than 100 lots over last year. That would not have been enough had it not been for the fact so many of you participated by sending in mail bids and attending the auction. I was amazed to look out over the audience and see members from coast to coast: Washington, California, Texas, Colorado, Florida, New York, New Jersey, North Carolina, Michigan and more. Thanks to all who supported this effort. Bob Rarey, Norm Thran, and members from the Dayton Area Study Club and the Hoosier Heisey Study Club deserve kudos for producing the event. Thanks also to the auctioneers: Tom Bischoff, Paul Robison, Sam Schnaidt and Larry Stickle.

Drawing favorable response at the auction was the preview of the sample cobalt Show Horse which will be offered for sale on a pre-order basis to members only (one per member) during a 30 day period starting May 18 through June 18. There will be no seconds offered for sale in the museum shop and no frosted pieces. Made by Dalzell Viking, they are nothing short of spectacular. Look for details in the May newsletter. Eager and interested new members were signed onto the HCA roster in anticipation of the offering!

Sitting beside the Show Horse and drawing interest was the sow and piglets in Lavender Ice. This is a fun set (particularly when referred to as the "sow and bunnies set" ... but then you had to be there) and the glass is Lavender Ice at its best. The set would be a great addition to the other Lavender Ice animals in your collection.

To the sounds of calypso music, the weekend was capped off by the 200 Dinner '95. Although not all tickets were sold before the dinner, prior to the drawing tickets were offered for sale to those in attendance. There was a frenzy of activity in response and the remainder of the tickets were sold in a matter of minutes. The elated grand prize winners were Fred and Doris Mossman of Newark. Frank Frye and the committee, including John Eshelman and Dick Smith, ticket sales, are to be commended for a job well done. The festive Carnival Cruise atmosphere for the evening was artfully created by Debbie Johnson and Heidi Schnaidt.

The board of directors met in a Sunday morning (and part of the afternoon) session following the gala evening. Good news started the meeting with the membership report showing 4020 members. Voting member numbers stand currently at 622. Members participating in one of the endowment levels are 302. Active study clubs number 41. For all of you who have taken action on the membership drive proposal to distribute information and membership forms to outlets in your areas, good news! To this date 16 new members have signed on. Keep up the good work by helping build awareness of HCA and inviting people to join.

Elsewhere in the newsletter will be the treasurer's report. It shows a strong standing for the first quarter which is expected to continue throughout the year due to the success of projects to date and scheduled projects for the remainder of the year. We have penciled in the possibility for unexpected expenses, but keep your eraser handy. After a three month review the board agreed to continue the bookkeeping procedure of daily data transactions into the computer accounting system with actual accounting procedures handled by the Newark accounting firm of Wells and Priest.

Due to the fact the museum is short staffed at the present time, a person will be sought to fill the position of museum assistant. This person will report to the administrator and will aid in doing the myriad of duties required to be accomplished by various key members of the staff. Currently the job search is under way.

The board approved a proposal to adopt the Scottie as the new convention souvenir starting in 1996. We anticipate just as long a run for this item as Oscar. Sales for this year's Oscar in "Goodness Gracious Brown!" are strong. However, it is not too late (at this date) to order yours. Don't miss out on Oscar's last run.

At the general membership meeting, the proposal for the revision of the constitution and bylaws as recommended by the Bylaws Committee and approved by the board for ratification, was presented. During discussion, ideas and suggestions from members were directed to the committee for further evaluation and consideration for future refinements. The proposal was adopted after a show of hands by the voting members. Adoption at this time, for one thing, means greater flexibility in absentee voting at the annual meeting. Look for details in May at the time the slate of candidates is featured.

Liz King's collection of Prison Stripe glassware was donated to the museum.

The report of the Nominating Committee chaired by Sam Schnaidt put forth the following names into nomination for election to the board of directors: Tom Bischoff, Ohio; Bill Brakemeyer, California; Joyce Dawson, Oregon; Charles Horsfall, Massachusetts; Ginny Marsh, Ohio; Mike Rosenberger, Indiana; Carl Sparacio, New Jersey; and Dick Spencer, Illinois. There were no nominations from the floor. You can read about these candidates in the May issue of the newsletter. Serving as director is a commitment not just for one project, but for a whole range of duties more than four times a year over a four year period. These people are to be applauded for agreeing to serve HCA.

With sadness I announced the passing of three dedicated and long time HCA members: Helen Kennon, Ruth Perloff, and Liz King. They had been with the organization since the beginning and through their years of service and association, HCA grew to something of which they were very proud. I shall always remember them with great fondness.

Louise Ream continues to recuperate following a stroke. Many of you have asked for an address. Write to her at the Mann Nursing Home, 25 West Home Street, Westerville, Ohio 43081. I know you all join me in extending your best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Be sure to mark your calendars for two important upcoming HCA events. First, June 14-17 are the dates for Convention 1995! Preparation has been in full swing since LAST June: only last minute details are being worked out. Secondly, mark your calendar for September 8-9 the dates for the quarterly meeting in Greensboro, North Carolina. Members of the North Carolina club have been working on a schedule for a great weekend of activities featuring the annual Percy Moore Souvenir Dinner. I'll see you there! ♦

Fainting Goats and Heisey Glass

Carl Sparacio

NO. 300 COLONIAL

When I started collecting Heisey, near the end of the Jurassic era, Heisey was plentiful, cheap and just this side of unknown. If I said, "Say, nice piece of Heisey you have there," to the Brontosaurus and Pterodactyls who manned booths at antiques shows, they mostly replied, "Huh?"

The entire Heisey collecting fraternity consisted of twenty collectors in Newark, Ohio, and me. If they were aware of me at all, which is doubtful, they probably weren't worried about the competition. I imagined the folks in Newark, Ohio, picking Heisey off the streets, stashing it under their beds and worshipping at the smoke stack with the big Diamond H. No matter, I contented myself being very picky about the Heisey I selected at flea markets and antiques shows in North Jersey, such was its abundance.

The problem with this heavenly scenario was that unless a piece was "Colonial" and wore a big Diamond H, I didn't have a clue that it was Heisey, or could be. To this day I wake up in cold sweats from a recurring nightmare of missed treasures passing before my uneducated eyes. Please understand, stupidity had nothing to do with this. No, sir, my ignorance was honestly earned. Very little research material was available back then.

NO. 1220 WARE

There were rumors of books on Heisey and I managed to track one down. I forget its name but I do remember it was by a Ms. Viola Cudd. If I find my copy I'll let you know the published date. As I became more knowledgeable I realized that perhaps Ms. Cudd's book was not as intensely researched as it could have been. With its help, I did manage to add glass to my collection, glass that Heisey never dreamed of making.

At about the same time (the late 60s,) Concetta Emanuele published Heisey Gems I (1968) Heisey Gems II (1969). Unfortunately, these volumes were a well kept secret in the east. I remained unaware of Ms. Emanuele's books until she published a book called Stems in 1970. Stems covered assorted stemware and only incidentally included Heisey's. It's a small book with limited coverage but it taught me that Heisey made more patterns than #300 Peerless.

About the same time, the HCA's own Kay Darling published a couple of articles on Heisey in Columbus, Ohio, newspapers. Unfortunately our newsboy didn't deliver Columbus newspapers in New Jersey; in fact, he often didn't deliver New Jersey newspapers (something to do with Little League, I think). Clarence Vogel's Book I, Heisey's First Ten Years, also hit the market in 1969. Talk about a revelation! Did you know that everything Heisey made wasn't marked with a Diamond H? I didn't. There was Fandango and Cut Block and Puntty Band and Plain Band and Puntty and Diamond Point and Fancy Loop and I could go on and on. I began to haunt the EAPG dealers (known as "Early American Pattern Glass" dealers to amateurs).

Heisey in color? Aw, c'mon. I didn't believe it until Loren & Virginia Yeakley's Heisey Glass in Color, which was also published during this productive period, revealed color to the rest of the world (me). I saw more patterns I never knew existed in colors I never imagined.

Enter the Heisey Collectors of America (HCA) in 1971, a group determined to single handedly destroy the Heisey monopoly I held in North Jersey. It began with their dedication to education. From the beginning, every monthly issue of the Heisey News offered information, then they rubbed salt in my wounds by offering books on every manner of Heisey subjects as well as catalog reprints. Soon the word spread that here was something we didn't have to be stupid about. It wasn't long before Heisey became the collecting world's worst kept secret.

NO. 440 "FRONTENAC"
PLATE ETCHING
CRYSTAL MOONGLEAM-FLAMINGO

I complain about the HCA's education overkill but I do appreciate it. I'm a sucker for research. Offer a book and I'm sure to buy it, point me at a library and you send me towards heaven. When I do research for my newspaper column, no matter what the subject, I can always find some relationship to Heisey.

Case in point, there is a group called the Fainting Goat Association. Honest, I read about it in the Smithsonian magazine. It's an association of people who own fainting goats. A fainting goat, I learned from the Smithsonian article, is a small goat native to Asia that faints, flat out, at any loud noise. Clap your hands and the goat keels over—plop. Just like that. Apparently association members get their jollies this way.

"Hey, bring a gong and come over tonight. We'll scare the bejeebers out of our goat." "No thanks, we're going to stay home and hassle the puppy with a rolled up newspaper." Burning with curiosity, I pulled the three very LARGE volumes that make up the Encyclopedia of Associations from the reference section of our local library. This encyclopedia lists and gives vital information on most American associations and some international ones as well. It contains 22,000 names of associations, organizations and clubs in its 1995 edition. If you're a joiner, the Encyclopedia of Associations will reduce you to tears.

I could not find the Fainting Goat Association's listing as the Smithsonian promised. No matter, I know their magazine wouldn't lie. What I did locate, instead, was a dormant hernia revitalized by lugging that set of encyclopedias to the library reference table. Striking out on the fainting goats, I chose to sit quietly glancing through these volumes until the pain subsided.

I found a listing for an American Council of Spotted Asses but chose not to research that organization further. The truth could hardly be more fun than the speculation. My guess is it has something to do with the new Congress.

I was surprised to find a listing for the Heisey Collectors of America though I shouldn't have been. We are, after all, a legitimate association. Actually, most glass organizations were included, Fostoria, Fenton, Imperial, and so on. Cambridge's glass collectors organization, however, was conspicuous by its absence. Maybe they don't really exist.

The HCA was number 19,947 in a listing of 22,000 associations in this 1995 edition of the Encyclopedia of Associations. This means we can't shout, "We're number one!" Shouting, "We're number 19,947!" is a little awkward, especially when you try to hold up all those fingers.

I couldn't resist taking a peek at our entry. I wondered if its information was up to date. The encyclopedia says that the HCA was founded in 1971, has 4,000 members and a staff of five. Its budget is $250,000 a year, it has forty state groups and a reference library. It also lists publications, committees, meetings and conventions. Oh, yes, It says our president is Schnaidt. President Amy Jo Jones may have a problem with that but I'm not going to be the one to break the news to her. Perhaps she'll make the 1996 edition.

Because they belong, all HCA members are educated collectors. An educated collector is a fierce competitor. I hope this column has inspired you to take advantage of all that HCA has to offer. Take advantage of your local library, too, it's full of useful knowledge. I learned not to lift three heavy volumes at one time. ♦

My Day In The Sun or The Continuing Saga Of The Heisey Cap Pistol

Odell Johnson

After many years in the doldrums, my career came alive again with the All Heisey Auction on March 10. It was great to be handled again at the preview and people saying how great my embossed Diamond H in the handle looked after all these years. One person, with his finger on the trigger, scratched the underside of his chin with the end of the barrel (I overheard someone say that he was a retired airline pilot). That hadn't happened to me since, I believe it was "Wils" who did that at a New Years Eve party many years ago. Very few have the fortitude and courage to pull that off.

And then the auction began. it was so exciting as I moved closer to the auction block—and then I was in "Fast Talking Sam's" hands and he extolled my pedigree, perhaps he stretched it a bit, but it was great and besides that I was on TV!! Then the bidding started, "I got ten, who will go twenty"—my but it was exciting. Then just like that it was over! It was so humiliating, knocked down for a mere FORTY DOLLARS. "Fast Talking Sam" just didn't realize what a prize he had in his hand, lots of Heisey Glass, but only one Heisey Pistol. I should have brought at least $250!! Well, there is always next year.

It was interesting laying on the storage shelves awaiting my new master. My, the marked Heisey Glass is a snooty group, wouldn't think of talking to unmarked Heisey, barely tolerating those with a paper label, giving my Diamond H a wary eye and speaking of my family background in a derogatory manner.

After being picked up by my new master, I overheard him say to her, "We may have a problem going through airport security with the Heisey Pistol." She said to him, "I am sure you can handle it as your always telling that airline pilots are sharper than the average bear." Well, I didn't know what to think about that, I at one time scared off a few chickens, but bears, that's something else! My master packs me in his carry on bag on my left side which pleased me as my right profile is my most handsome. At the Columbus Airport Security Station I waited in line to be X-rayed and WOW, when I came into view security came alive! The red lights started flashing, the klaxon blasted and I heard the X-ray operator exclaim upon seeing my profile, "HOLY COW, I am supposed to be relieved in 25 minutes." And with the klaxon blasting, I could hear my master mumbling, "It's only a cap gun." Well, 25 minutes latter I am packed in a box and just before heading for the air craft cargo bin I hear the Security Officers tell my master, "We haven't had as much excitement around here for a long time!"

Now I am on display in their home and my place of honor is in front of a collection of #6060 Country Club, all with a Winchester '73 etch. The collection consists of a cocktail shaker, a 10 and 14 oz. beverage, a 18 oz. soda and a 13 oz. old fashion. When my master was showing us off to several friends, he referred to me as, "It is possible that "James Stewart carried ME when he made the movie, Winchester '73." Wow, how about that!

No matter how many honors I have had bestowed on me in my long and illustrious life, My Day In The Sun was Monday, March 13, 1995, when I (little ol'me) shut down the Columbus, Ohio Airport at 11:30 am for 15 minutes!

Well, that is my SAGA for now, but don't forget, I'll be back on the Heisey Auction Block in March of 1996. I want to hear "Fast Talking Sam" say, "sold for $250."♦

Note: This "Troublemaker" can be seen at the home of Odell and Virginia Johnson in Bradenton, Florida. No admission charged for HCA members.

From the Archives

Don Valdes

Having enjoyed almost seven years of retirement, to date, long range planning has been one of my most easily avoidable activities. From this lovely, irresponsible condition I have been jolted. What with all our plans for two months in France, commencing next week, I suddenly realized I didn't have enough From the Archives articles to last 'til my return. Not only that, but I did want to do some lead ins to the Heisey advertising exhibit to open in June. Fortunately this dandy was ready and waiting in the wings.

Immediately upon coming aboard HCA I started sorting the materials at hand. The archives room in the new building was not quite ready for occupancy and I had much with which to become familiar. It has not been until recently that I have been able to record those items I had first seen and placed in boxes or folders over a year ago. Today I came across one of these, a folder upon which I had written, "ADVERTISING!"

Now I suppose every businessman gets his share of criticism, suggestions and/or praise. There is always the question of what to ignore, what to take to heart, and what suggestions to incorporate into the ongoing operations of the organization. With suggestions, in particular, the good executive should be aware that the innovative genius in 'most all of us, just itching to burst forth, should not be stifled. The contents of the previously mentioned folder gives evidence of such blossoming. One cannot help but wonder how many other "Executive Pres." heard from this gentleman. Did they all disregard his offer? I see no evidence of encouragement.

In the cataloging of archival materials particular care should be taken in the recording of items of particular significance, including those materials suitable to demonstrate the Heisey interest in placing their products before the people. It is in this spirit I present to you as close a replica of a hand written letter as type will permit. I further suggest that Mr. Heisey's very act of saving this proposal gives evidence of his commitment to advertising.

Heisey News Binding Project

Bob Rarey

Every two years Heisey news binding service is offered to those members wishing to have this done and it is time for the 1993-1994 volume. Binding will again be done by the same firm that has performed this service since the 1981-1982 volume. Of library quality, the cover will be the same dark blue with gold lettering as was previously used. The price for binding is $22.00 per volume, plus $4.00 per volume if return shipping is required.

Back issues of the Heisey News will be bound for the same price. If some back issues of the Heisey News are missing, some may be available from HCA. Check with the museum staff if you need back issues.

Please! Remember you must remove all staples before binding.

The cut-off date for binding will be the last day of the 1995 HCA Convention, June 17, 1995.

You may bring or send your newsletters to the HCA museum or send directly to me at my home address. (Make checks payable to me) ♦

The New Bedford Whaling Museum announces A New Exhibition: "Smith Brothers Fine Decorated Glassware" from October 14, 1994 through October 15, 1995.

In 1870, when William L. Libbey moved the Mount Washington Glass Works from South Boston to New Bedford, he hired Alfred Smith, a skilled glass decorator, to establish a decorating shop on the new Mount Washington grounds. Within the next year or two, Alfred's brothers Harry and Samuel joined him, and shortly there after they established their own firm under the name of Smith Brothers.

The Smith Brothers firm was to earn a world-wide reputation for the quality of its decorated glass, an achievement recognized by an award of merit at the US Centennial Exposition held in Philadelphia in 1876.

As the popularity of art glass faded at the end of the century, so too did the fortunes of the Smith Brothers. In 1903, Alfred Smith, the remaining partner, closed the doors of the firm after nearly 30 years as leading glass decorators.

This exhibit, assembled with the help of Adjunct Curator Louis O. St. Aubin, Jr., will bring together more than two hundred pieces decorated by Smith Brothers, as well as documents, photographs and catalogs relating to the business.

For further information call: Judy Lund, Curator, Whaling Museum, at (508) 997-0046.

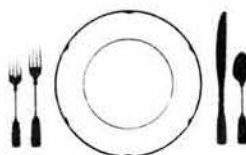

Replacements, Ltd, Announces The Sale of Two New Publications.

We are pleased to announce the release of two new reference books from Page-Frederiksen Publishing: Seneca Glass Company: 1891-1983 A Stemware Identification Guide and A Collection of American Crystal: A Stemware Identification Guide for Glastonbury/Lotus, Libbey/Rock Sharpe & Hawkes. Both books were compiled by Bob Page, president of Replacements, Ltd., and Dale Frederiksen.

For almost a century, from 1891-1983, the Seneca Glass Company of Morgantown, West Virginia, was a premier producer of fine lead glass tableware and barware. Talented glass artists at the factory applied a wide variety of techniques to their ware, including very delicate acid and needle etching, plate etching, and sandblasting.

Now approximately 900 patterns and 300 stems made by the Seneca Glass factory are extensively documented with computer generated line drawings in a newly-released book by Page-Frederiksen Publishing entitled, Seneca Glass Company: 1891-1983 A Stemware Identification Guide. The book is available through Replacements, Ltd., at the cost of $24.95 plus $2.00 shipping and handling.

If you would like to purchase either of these books or if you would like further information about anything, please contact Darla Doumanian, public relations coordinator, at 800-562-4462 extension 221. ♦
