Message From the President

Happy Summer!

What a wonderful 2022 Convention. A huge thank you to all the Heisey Collectors of America members who came to Newark to celebrate "Heisey Holidays." The success of this year's convention is attributed to the many volunteers who came early in the week and to those who stayed afterwards helping to do whatever they saw needed to be done. We appreciate the Study Club members who donated items for the Bunny Hop Café and served as greeters, mentors, ticket takers, and cheerleaders during Convention. Thank you for stepping in and assisting the Convention Committee. Thank you goes to the Convention Committee of David Blair, Jack Burriss, Emie Heisey, Trudy Mock, Mary Olson, and Suzanne Parker for hours of Zoom meetings, phone calls, and texts during the past few months in getting ready for all our "Holiday" guests. Trudy and John Mock deserve a huge thank you for their talents and enthusiasm in making the Table Displays event fabulous. Educational seminars offered at the glass show by John Martinez, Kelly Shirley and Mary Olson were well attended. We appreciate their knowledge on oils, flower arranging and advertising. As always, the dime toss at the Canal Walk on Saturday brought many enthusiastic participants as well as onlookers. Museum Director/Curator Jack Burriss and museum staff worked tirelessly behind the scenes to assist in any way they could to make everyone's visit enjoyable. The museum staff and committee members have received numerous compliments on a great "Holiday." We certainly cannot forget the glass dealers who made it possible for many of us to take home more Heisey for future holidays. Thank you everyone.

Wednesday evening's Holiday-fest Welcome Dinner began with a superb dinner from Grillin' Dave and ended with a Heisey trivia game and beer mug prizes. Congratulations to the winners as well as the rest of us who learned more about Mr. Heisey, his family and Heisey glass. The Valentines for Volunteers Brunch was the perfect opportunity to honor some special volunteers with chocolate and sparkling wine. The New Year's Eve Banquet, held at the beautiful Virtues Golf Club, ended the past Heisey year and began the countdown to next year's Convention with a champagne toast. The evening's live auction of member donated Heisey glass, along with some amazing "surprise" wrapped boxes, entertained us with a few bidding wars.

Be ready for 2023 Convention. Co-Chairs David Blair and Kelly Thran will be sharing Convention ideas soon.

At the June Membership Meeting, study clubs presented yearly reports on club activities as well as wonderful donations for both operating and endowment funds. Many thanks for their generosity. Certificates of appreciation were presented to Candy Freeman and Mary Olson for their service during their 2018-2022 terms on the Board of Directors. Charlie Wade, Immediate Past President, was recognized with a Distinguished Service Award. We congratulate David Blair, Eric Tankesley-Clark, and Mary Olson on being elected to serve on the 2022-2026 Board of Directors. The three amendments did not pass.

Mark your calendar to attend the Dick Marsh Antique Car Show, July 31st and the Percy and Vivian Moore Weekend and Dave Spahr Fall Select Auction October 13-15.

Looking forward to seeing you there!

Words from Your Director-Curator

It is one of those perfect summer days here in Newark, there is extremely low humidity, temperature in the mid 80s, and the sun is bright and clear. Our fountain in the courtyard is bubbling happily away and flowers are in full bloom. The exterior paint job is nearing completion, and they are moving ahead on our new fire and security systems. Convention, Heisey Holidays 2022, is over and was a remarkably successful time. After a two-year absence it was so good to have the “family” back together.

Just in time to greet our guests for convention, we were extremely excited and pleased to install our much-anticipated new transom over the main entry doors. This was only possible due to the hard work, artistry, and dedication of Caroline K. Jensen. You may recall that she spent over two years creating our new entry doors, that quickly became a local landmark. This crowns them off well. Caroline had shipped the three new panels to the Museum. Unfortunately, they arrived severely damaged. She and her son arrived from Colorado one weekend to complete the repairs. We all owe her a great deal of gratitude for hand crafting this one-of-a-kind entry way for our one-of-a-kind Museum!

Three weekends in a row found me attending glass shows. The weekend prior to our celebration of Heisey, Emie Heisey, Walter Ludwig, and I traveled to West Virginia to attend the Fostoria Glass show. We met up with old friends, saw some interesting glass, and were able to talk “shows” with some of our counterparts at Fostoria. Walter was pleased to find some items to bring home as well. For my part, I purchased one small Heisey item from Roy Eggert who was one of the dealers there. Next up, of course, Heisey Holiday 2022 and our four-day celebration of the glass and art we all love. It was so good for us to be back together in person doing our special “Heisey” fellowship and sharing all the amazing things about our Museum and organization. I for one, and not the only one, did some celebrational buying of our favorite glass! A huge thank you to all the many parts and people that worked together, had fun, and made the success of our Convention, Show and Sale possible. A Big Congratulations to our new Board of Directors members, and officers and much gratitude to those leaving the board.

Our beautiful new transom at the front door has arrived!

The weekend after Heisey Fest, Walter Ludwig, Richard Nicholson, and I departed Newark at 8 am in time to travel to Cambridge. Their Glass Dash, like our Canal Market Flea Market. After the “Dash” we went on to the main sale. Walter and I have attended this show since I started here. Again, this was a time of seeing friends and comparing notes after a two year absence. We have long worked well with Cambridge and were very thankful for the wonderful display of Cambridge glass that Cindy Arent (the Cambridge Museum Director) presented for the table display area at our own convention. I have long admired items in the Cambridge Glass pattern Everglades and am now the happy owner of three pieces in this interesting pattern which is very unlike anything Heisey ever made. Three big weekends of glass and now on to the car show and auction preparations.

I spoke briefly at our Convention Banquet and in my closing remarks asked all that were there to look around the room and think about what unites us. Our love of Heisey and the excitement of sharing what we know is one of the unifying factors that I would ask us all to consider. In any organization there are those that pick and tear down and those that find the good and build upon it. We have a long and productive history of building and my hope for all of us would be to continue in that tradition!

Treasurer's Report by Andy Baldus

Our overall financial position is still on track with the approved 2022 budget. At our June membership meeting, I presented account balances, which was followed by a lengthy discussion with membership on budget issues. Preliminary net revenue from this year's convention is $8,500. Although this is less than our goal of $10,000, I consider it a success considering the last two years we had no convention revenue.

I want to recognize and thank study clubs for their generous donations. Study Club donations totaled $11,330 -- $2,680 Operating, $500 for Acquisitions, $1,000 for the Capital Fund, $6,750 for the Endowment, and $400 for other.

I want to thank Jim Cooke, Robert Harrison, Martha McGill, Kelly Shirley, Dan and Sue Kilgore, Emie Heisey, Andy Baldus and others who provided donations during convention week. We received donations totaling $8,680 -- $1,000 for Convention, $680 for Operating, $500 for Projects and $6,500 for the Endowment.

I also want to thank and recognize Park National Bank ($1,500), Vicki Ensor ($500) and Madison-Collins-Stephens ($250) for their sponsorship of tables at the banquet.

The two auctions at the Convention raised a total of $5,317. The silent auction brought in $1,662 and the live auction at the banquet raised $3,655 (see pages 7 and 8). I would like to recognize and thank all who donated items for these auctions. Without your generosity, these two fundraisers would not have been possible.

For the Treasurer's Report at the June Membership meeting, I reported the following May 31, 2022 account balances and Endowment balance as of March 31, 2022.

2022 Convention celebrated Heisey friendships and Heisey glass

By Mary Olson

After two years with no HCA convention due to COVID-19, members flocked to Newark June 15 through 18 to celebrate and reconnect with friends from across the country for dinners, meetings, seminars and, of course, the HCA Glass Show and Sale. Even with the virus still a concern, convention attendance matched those of the previous few conventions.

It's a Heisey Holiday opened Wednesday evening with the Welcome Dinner at a new location, The Maennerchor, which is Newark's German social club. The evening was Heisey's take on Oktoberfest, featuring food from Grillin' Dave Style of Zanesville and an Heisey trivia game played online in teams. The winning team received HCA elephant-handled beer mugs.

Heisey Collectors of America National Convention

June 15th - 18th, 2022

The Valentines for Volunteers brunch at the Buckingham House the following morning celebrated HCA volunteers from the past year. The Bunny Hop snack bar was open in the lower level of the museum to provide refreshments for those attending the First Time Attendee Meeting and the Study Club Meeting.

Then everyone headed across town to the opening of the Glass Show and Sale. Convention goers smiled at the sparkling collection of glass for sale under the bright lights of the Lou and Gib Reese Ice Arena as they made their selections from nine dealers. For lovers of the glass made by A.H. Heisey & Company, the Glass Show and Sale was the undisputed highlight of the convention.

Friday started with the Annual Meeting and election (see election results on page 14) and then it was back to the glass show for more shopping, a bit of inspiration and some education.

In addition to the dealers, the glass show featured a series of stunning table displays thanks to the efforts of Trudy Mock, who spent months convincing HCA members to design table displays and bring them to Newark to share with others and John Mock, who designed and assembled some clever props to enhance the display area and of course, the members who designed the displays. Most displays incorporated the convention theme, "It's a Heisey Holiday." There were displays for Christmas, New Year's Eve, Easter, St. Patrick's Day, Father's Day and more. The displays raised more than $800 for HCA as visitors voted for their favorite tables by dropping dollar bills into the collection boxes at each table. This was one time people could vote as many times as they wanted!

BOARD ELECTION: New 2022-2026 Board Members Mary Olson and David Eric Blair being sworn in.

This year's Seminar Station at the show featured programs on topics such as Heisey Oil Bottles, Fabulous Floral Arrangements with Heisey, and more. Attendees watched in amazement as Kelly Shirley effortlessly put together floral arrangements for seasons and holidays using a limited selection of flowers from the supermarket plus pinecones, eggs, shells, and flags. He created each arrangement in a few minutes, almost as if by magic.

Friday evening's banquet at Virtues Golf Club gave members the opportunity to celebrate New Year's Eve in June, complete with top hats and tiaras, balloons, beads, and horns. Diners enjoyed a preview of the new Heisey history video being created to share with museum visitors and an auction of Heisey glass donated by members.

People arose early Saturday morning to seek bargains at the popular glass flea market in Newark's Canal Market District, where everyone was welcome to set up a table and sell their extra glass. A highlight of this event was the traditional Dime Toss. It was great fun to watch children toss dimes enthusiastically into a nice assortment of Heisey glassware set in tiers upon a table. With a little skill and luck, some started gathering their own collection of Heisey glassware, smiling broadly each time their dime landed in the piece they wanted. Perhaps they will be the next generation of HCA members!

Three HCA Board members elected, all proposed amendments turned down

When the final ballots were cast June 17, Heisey Collectors of America elected three members to the Board of Directors. Two new members were chosen – David Blair of Ohio and Eric Tankesley-Clarke of Missouri. The third was incumbent Mary Olson, who serves as board secretary.

In addition, members turned down three proposed amendments to the Constitution and Bylaws. The first would have required HCA elections to be conducted through mailed ballots, the second would have clarified the role of the Executive Committee and its relationship to the Board of Directors, and the third would have eliminated the Executive Committee and required the full board to meet monthly. None received a two-thirds majority vote of those who had voted in the election, as required by HCA Bylaws.

New 2022-2023 board members David Blair and Mary Olson being sworn in by board president Suzanne Parker.

Elections in 2020 and 2021 had been conducted by mail when COVID made it necessary to cancel the annual convention. Since HCA had a convention this year, the election was conducted during the Annual Meeting as specified in the Constitution and Bylaws. Voting members unable to attend the Annual Meeting were able to vote by absentee ballot.

Vote totals to be released

HCA has had a long-standing practice of releasing only the names of the winners and whether or not amendments have passed. However, in 2020, a year with three candidates for three positions and one proposed amendment, vote totals were released.

President Suzanne Parker received a request for vote totals this year. During a special meeting June 27, the Board of Directors voted to release vote totals for candidates and proposed amendments this year and in the future

The vote totals were not available at the time this newsletter went to press. After the election, the tally sheets, initialed by each member of the vote counting team, were locked in a cabinet at the museum and are unavailable to museum staff. When available, this information will be published on the HCA website, sent to members in an e-Gram, and included in the August issue of Heisey News.

HCA Executive Committee 2022-2023

During its reorganization meeting June 17th, the HCA board chose the following officers: President, Suzanne Parker; Vice President, Frachele Scott; Treasurer, Andy Baldus; Secretary, Mary Olson. The aforementioned officers and Immediate Past President Charlie Wade form this year's Executive Committee.

A number of thanks are in order for the success of this election:

Thanks to HCA voting members for their outstanding participation in the election!

Thanks to three additional candidates: Jim Cooke, Michael Maher, and James Warren for their commitment to HCA and their willingness to run for the board.

Thanks to Susan Bruah, HCA Membership Clerk, for tracking voting members, handling absentee ballots and answering members' election questions. When absentee ballots were returned in the mail, she made certain each was deposited immediately in the locked ballot box.

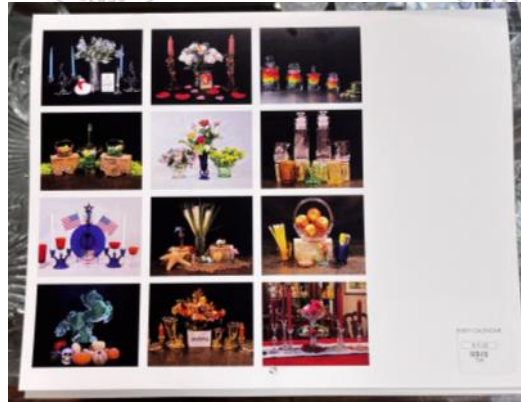

Thanks to the team of Board Members Geoff Heisey and Jay Goletz and HCA members Tom and Kathy Files, Russ Reopell, Dick and Marilyn Smith, and Elizabeth Shirley for their very thorough work in counting ballots.

Thanks to HCA Vice President Martha McGill and Treasurer Andy Baldus for checking in voters.

Thanks to Brent Guest for his work in creating the 2022 Election section on the HCA website.

Thanks to the Nominations Committee of Mary Cameron, Sandy Dyer, Candy Freeman, Mary Olson, and Committee Chair Emie Heisey.

A LOOK BACK AT HEISEY HISTORY

HEISEY DINNER PLATES

By Walter Ludwig (reprinted from the April 2006 Heisey News)

Earlier this year, a member of one of our study clubs mentioned that they were planning to do a program on Heisey dinner plates using Joe Lokay's article in the September 1974, Heisey News as a guide. I remembered the article and felt that it needed some updating in order to do a proper study of the subject. Many more sources are now available than Joe had back in 1974 and I also had some thoughts on the subject that I felt should be included. I volunteered to do some additional research so that the study club would have as complete a listing as possible.

Joe began his article, "To discuss dinner plates, we must define a dinner plate. As simple as this may sound, it becomes important when you sort through all the plates, or the like that the Heisey Company made over its 61 year life. I define a dinner plate as 10-11 inches in diameter where the primary intent was for use as a dinner plate. Thus, something 10-11 inches in diameter may not necessarily be a dinner plate because that was not the intent by the company when it sold to the public.

"I will define a nine inch plate as a luncheon plate, an eight inch plate as a salad plate, a seven inch plate as a dessert plate, and a six inch plate as a bread and butter plate. One could eat dinner off a nine inch plate, but most people prefer to call the ten inch plate the dinner plate. Plates larger than 11 inches are considered round platters, trays, fruit plates, sandwich plates, torte plates, etc."

I agree with Joe's premises, but it is a little difficult to determine exactly what the intent of the company was when they made plates. The first patterns that Joe lists as having dinner plates are 1220 Puntty Band and 1225 Plain Band. Heisey's catalog shows plates in both patterns made in 5", 6", 9", 10", and 11" sizes. These plates have the beaded border on them that is typical of pieces in these patterns. Joe's conclusion was that because this edge treatment affected the ease of cleaning and handling, diminishing the usefulness of the plate as a dinner plate and, therefore, the patterns were not long in life. I do not feel these plates were ever intended to serve dinner on. The style at the time was that glassware was used to complement your chinaware, not to replace it. Only certain pieces were accepted by the public as being proper pieces to use in glass and no one would consider serving dinner on glass plates. These plates were merely serving trays for sweetmeats or other confections.

There is a gap before the next pattern that Joe proposes as having a dinner plate. This further reinforces the argument that the public was not using glass dinner plates in the early years of Heisey's existence. The next patterns are 393 Narrow Flute, 433 Greek Key, 1127 Fine Tooth, and 1150 Colonial Star. All of these patterns have 10" plates that could be used for dinner plates. The pattern introduction years range from 1910 until 1912. The plates in these patterns share an interesting characteristic. The outer border on these plates are all relatively wide, and rather than being flanged like the dinner plates we are used to today, these are more sloping than we generally see in a dinner plate. Collectors today, especially of the 433 Greek Key pattern, are willing to accept these plates as dinner plates, frankly, I believe, because they have no choice if they want to have dinner plates in their sets. Whether Heisey intended them that way it is hard to say. It is quite possible that Heisey was just offering a variety of different plates to be used with their pattern and had no intention of suggesting that the ten inch plate could be used as a dinner plate. Eleven inch plates in both 1218 Simplicity and 1219 Simplicity with Star share this characteristic, although they were not included in Joe's original list. I am including these plates in my list because of the general acceptance of the Greek Key plate as a dinner plate.

Two patterns that were introduced in 1916 are the next on Joe's list, 507 Coarse Rib and 411 Tudor. Both patterns offered an 11" plate. My objections to listing these as dinner plates are that both plates have very wide rims and small centers. This just would not make an acceptable plate to eat off of. A true dinner plate should have a narrow border area and a large interior area.

In the mid-1920s there were general style changes and changes in lifestyle that I believe led to the introduction of what I would call full table lines, including the true dinner plate (and cup and saucer which were added to patterns at the same time). The move away from an agricultural society to a more urban society, the growth of suburbs, and the introduction of more labor saving machines in the home led to the emergence of a middle class woman at home with more time on her hands. This led to a more informal style of entertainment where glass could have a more prominent part. Color was all the rage and setting an attractive table for a luncheon became very important. Only at this time was the public willing to accept using glass for all of the elements on the table, including the dinner plate. Many different patterns were introduced at this time that included the dinner plate.

Almost all of the large patterns introduced in the late 1920s and through the 1930s included a dinner plate as part of the line. But not all patterns did: 1404 Old Sandwich and 1405 Ipswich are exceptions probably, because there was more emphasis in these lines on the stemware and barware rather than having them as full lines. By the late 1930s, we see the beginning of the trend away from having a dinner plate in the line. Neither 1425 Victorian nor 1506 Provincial had a dinner plate. 1540 Lariat, introduced in 1941, is the last of Heisey's patterns that had a dinner plate.

#1184 Yeoman plate

#1513 Waverly plate

#1519 Waverly plate 10 1/2 inch plate with 507 Orchid etch

Later pattern lines, like 1567 Plantation and 1951 Cabochon, lack a dinner plate.

There is no doubt why the glass dinner plate did not last long as an item that was included with new offerings. The glass dinner plate is extremely impractical. If hot food is served on these plates, the plates drain the heat quickly from the food and most of the meal will be eaten cold. The plates quickly show the use marks of utensils as they are drawn across the plate making them unattractive. With later patterns, these plates, rather than being called dinner plates, were referred to as service plates. In terms of etiquette, a service place is usually a place holder so that the table will look beautiful when everyone is brought to the table, but then the service plate is replaced by a more practical plate when the time comes to serve the meal.

I have composed a table of the patterns that I feel include a dinner plate using Joe Lokay's list as a starting point. This list does not include decorations or colors that could be had in these patterns. Many of Heisey's most popular etching patterns offered a dinner plate as part of the set, sometimes on more than one blank. You can obtain dinner plates in 447 Empress, 448 Old Colony, 503 Minuet, 507 Orchid, and 515 Heisey Rose among others. Many of these patterns were offered in color and dinner plates can be found in Flamingo, Moongleam, Hawthorne, Marigold, Sahara, and Alexandrite.

Although 1183 Revere first came out in the 1910s, the plate was not added to the line until the pattern emerged in the late 1940s as a utilitarian line, including dinner service. The dinner plate in 1184 Yeoman was probably not developed until the mid-1920s when full dinnerware patterns emerged. The 1150 Colonial Star 10" plate was no longer available when the 1150 plate series was merged into the 341 Old Williamsburg set in the late 1930s.

Size listings from this list are taken from catalogs. Do not be surprised to find some variation in the plates that you find. Be especially careful in the case of the 1540 Lariat dinner/service plate because there is an 11" cookie plate that is often misrepresented as the dinner plate. The difference is that the dinner has a large center area while the cookie has a small center area.

Even though we may not find the glass dinner plate a great utilitarian piece, do not hesitate to get them if you want. They really do set a beautiful table and it is perfectly acceptable to remove them when it comes time to eat and use the good china instead.

This picture is taken from 1929 ad in the Glass Secrets series that ran in many popular magazines of the day. The main theme of this ad was "In a Glasse a Yard Long." This insert shows a table set with 3368 Albemarle stems and 1252 Twist in Moongleam using the 10½" dinner plate.

Heisey Collectors Club of Michigan

Our first meeting of 2022 was held on May 14 at the Zukey Lake Tavern in Pinckney. The meeting was hosted by our president, Rick Van Meer. After reviewing our last meeting and hearing the treasurer’s report, we discussed the HCA Spring Benefit auction which was attended by four of our members. It was at this event that we met our new members. We are excited and happy to welcome Daneen, her daughter Trina and granddaughter Marlee to HCC of MI. Daneen’s husband was born and raised in Newark, OH and his grandfather, Americus Vespucius Stewart, was a glass blower at Heisey. We were shown pictures of a red bowl that he made as well as a pair of 1-light Ridgeleigh candlesticks (based on #132 Sunburst candlesticks) and a #1445 Grape Cluster floral bowl in an odd shade of Zircon. These may be the same as illustrated on page 48 of Bredehoft’s The Collector’s Encyclopedia of Heisey Glass (1925-1938). A blown spittoon he made is also reportedly at the Heisey Museum. A former Heisey employee profile about Americus, written by his daughter, appeared in the March 1974 issue of Heisey News.

Items of new business we discussed included club dues, which will now be collected at our annual Christmas party each year; the HCA convention, which will be attended by four of our members; our summer picnic meeting, which will be hosted by Nancy and Bart on August 20 at their home in Grand Ledge and our annual donation to HCA, which will be a check for $1000 to the endowment fund in memory of Bonnie Van Meer.

We also discussed our club fundraisers for this year which include a set of three refrigerator magnets based on the 1927 Heisey metal counter cards ($5 per set) and a book that collects together all of the 17 Heisey related articles that appeared in the Glass Collector’s Digest between 1987 and 2001 ($10 per book). These were sold at the spring auction and will be sold during convention.

Following lunch, Dan and David presented a short program on Heisey’s #921 Danish Princess cutting, which was introduced in 1939. Examples to illustrate the talk included almost all of the stemware items from the Symphone line and a Queen Ann floral bowl.
